EXPLANATION.

Heads of families are in heavy black type. Sons carried forward are in lighter black type. When the family is once found by the index it may be traced backward and forward by the numbers.

PREFACE.

At the end of 1339 pages of Baldwin genealogy the writer may well say this is his last contribution.

After the issue of nearly 1,000 pages in 1881 I expected to say no more, nor should I probably have issued the supplement were it not for the very large additions of descendants of Joseph, of Milford, and Hadley. These are largely in and from New Jersey.

I am forbidden to name those to whom I am under most obligation in that behalf. I can say, however, that I should much more gladly read the account of the Bloomfield Baldwins written by one more competent than myself.

This book has been some years in preparation and more that one in printing.

For the last four years I have been in the public service, and the court upon the bench of which I sit has been too much crowded with business so that my attention to the book has been fitful. The difficulties of a genealogist are great. Strict accuracy in dates is unattainable when the most careful of informants themselves make mistakes and accounts of the same family from different members of it more often disagree than agree.

I may quote from a gentleman whose accuracy I have myself much respected, (Rev. Benjamin L. Swan, in Olcott's History of Stratford, p. 1114.) "Experience, however, and the study of genealogical volumes obliges me to say there is no perfect genealogical work, nor can one be made." The causes of errors he says are so many and so difficult to avoid. Doctor G. Brown Goode, the assistant secretary of the Smithsonian, in the latest book of genealogy that has come to my hands says, p. 467: "To those who feel that injustice has been done them, I frankly say the fault is not always mine, but more frequently theirs or that of their friends." He quotes the venerable Dr. Slaughter.

“An author cannot spin genealogies out of his own brain as the goddess spring complete from the brain of Jupiter. He can only collate and digest materials gathered from various and often conflicting authorities. They then pass into the hands of copyists and are thence committed to the tender mercies of that most formidable of all steam engines, the press. It will be a marvel if a family can make all these perilous passages without the loss of some members or suffering such dislocations and fractures that they often can hardly be recognized.”

The troubles of the genealogist do not end with his informants, himself and his copyists. No works are so difficult to the printer, and even his best intentions to correct mistakes sometimes go wrong.

On page 52, finding the Plum family difficult to sort, I endeavored to quote the quaint joke of Mr. Savage on the same family, “that it seems impossible to pick all these Plums.” The printer helped, and it stands, “that it seems impossible to pick up all these Plums.” In my supplement, endeavoring the correction, the printer says, “it seems impossible to pick all these Prunes.” Even in this case the most important fact was conveyed which I just hear afresh from a learned gentleman, of Old Milford, that it seems impossible to assort the early Plums. It is no stronger than the statement made me on high authority when thirty years ago I began to study the Baldwins of Milford, that they were so numerous that it was impossible to trace one’s ancestors.

This book is in the main an addition to the former which has a much more systematic and fuller account of the Baldwins. An abbreviated account of the English Baldwins is given here for those who may not obtain the former book, but it is much more full and elaborate in the former volume. It was one of the finest pieces of work of the famous Col. Chester, an American who settled in London, received from Oxford University the degree of D.C.L., for his great learning in English antiquities. His report is also printed in full in the N. E. Historic Genealogical Register. I need not repeat the acknowledgements of my first book, but I should then have made more full and formal acknowledgement to his learning and success.

I hope some readers of this book will be led to further search and to make more intimate acquaintance with their ancestors. It is generally not difficult for one to have a fair acquaintance with some of them at least, and a knowledge of how an average man lived, talked, wrote and thought in early times, is more valuable than the knowledge of many battles. I think one may see plainly signs of the influence genealogy has had upon the study of history. Every genealogist feels that influence.

I hope this will not be the last book on its subject.

A general genealogy may appear too large an enterprise.

I was led to it partly by the necessity and difficulty of identifying the early Baldwins.

It is much easier to publish and sell with continuation the descendants of separate settlers, and the author, if living, will cheerfully acquiesce and help in the use of so much as may be wanted from his information.

I am under great obligations to the following gentlemen not of the name: B. L. Dodd, M.D., Orange, N. J.; Mr. N. G. Pond, of Milford, Conn; Gen'l Alfred Munn, of East Orange, N. J.; and Mr. Dwight E. Bowers, of New Haven, Conn.; as well as to others.

With kind regard to all the "Baldwins" the author bids good-bye.

C. C. BALDWIN.

THE ENGLISH BALDWINS.

The history of the English Baldwins who were ancestors of, by very far, the larger share of the Baldwins of America, occupies about seventy pages in the work of which this is a supplement. As this book will fall into the hands of some who will not have the original, I conclude to make here a brief sketch of that history.

Most of the Baldwins of America are descended from those in Buckinghamshire, near Hertfordshire, and of Oxfordshire, which shires join Bucks. The name occurred before the Conquest in the immediate vicinity of the Baldwins of Bucks.

There were in the time of Edward the Conqueror numerous lands held there by Baldwins. Surnames, however, were not in use, or at least did not descend, until long after the Conquest, and Baldwin de Hampden, of the time of William the Conqueror, becomes, in the revolution of 1640, John Hampden, the famous patriot; the place having given the family name.

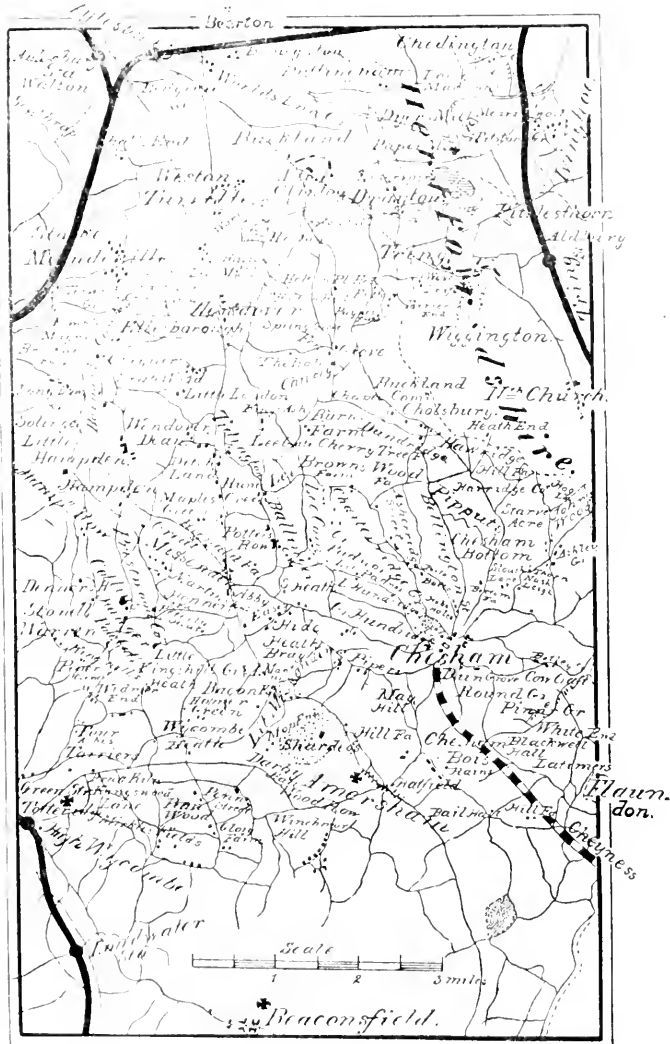

From the year 1200, down, the name is pretty continually found in the vicinity of Aylesbury Bucks.

1198, Robert Fitz, (son) Baldwin is of Burton.

1254, John Baudwyn has lands there.

1204, Michael Fitz Baldwin has lands in Haremede, which, perhaps, was the same Hardmead, where, in the time of William the Conqueror, Baldwins held lands of the King.

1212 to 1272 appears John Baldwin and his wife Cecil.

James R. Kitter, Del.

MAP OF PART OF COUNTY BUCKS, ENGLAND.

These Baldwins, and those of later days, were just on the border of Hertfordshire, and the family was apparently the same. In Herts, in 1250, is Baldwin, son of Baldwin le Fleming. 1277, there is an Adam Baldwin at Hatthfeud.

In Chutterbuck's Hertfordshire, appears an agreement between Hugh Evesden, twenty-seventh Abbot of the monastery, and the Burgesses of St. Albans, dated, or rather confirmed, 1272. In it appear the familiar names John le Fitz (son) Richard Baldwyne and Johan de Hampton.

The names Richard and John appear there often afterwards.

In Bucks, in 1340, Henry is taxed at Little Messenden.

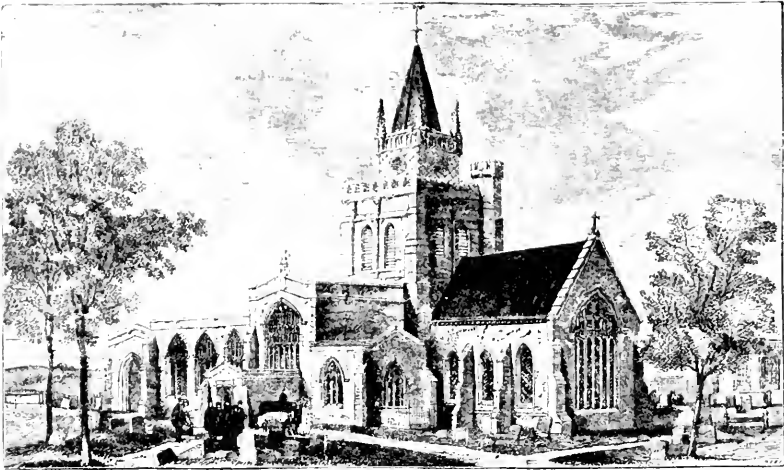

Missenden Church. [Very Ancient.]

About that time Walter Baldwin and Gunneva, his wife, held lands in Honeyborn.

About 1360, John Bandwyne and his wife Elizabeth, sold lands in Nether Winchendon.

1429 appears John Baldwin, of Aylesbury, and that same year John Senior and John Junior were two of the three founders of the fraternity or brotherhood of the town of Aylesbury.

ALDERBURY, WILTS.
[Built about 1250.]

1435, the name appears among "the gentry" of Bucks at that same town.

Richard Baldwin died there September 21st, 1485, leaving as his next heir his brother John, who was probably born about 1470. This John Baldwin was there in 1492, and is the one named in the first volume of Hume's History of England (p. 29, Harper's Ed.) where he is wrongly assigned to the time of Henry II., though the statement there of the terms on which he held his estate is correct enough. On page 13 of my former book in the description of the tenure of his land and for "pinching litter for the bed of the Lord King," read, "finding litter," etc. In 1542 John Baldwin paid subsidies on this manor.

The most illustrious of this family of Baldwins, was Sir John Baldwin, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas of England, from 1536 to 1545, when he died. I know not what relation he was to the ancestors of the American Baldwins, but incited by his example, no doubt numbers of them took to the law and the property, the history of which first, led to proving the connection in England, came through Sir John to the ancestors of the American Baldwins.

I insert the following letter from a gentleman to whom all Baldwins are indebted :

Boston, November 23d, 1883.

My Dear Sir: I always try to look through the volumes published by the English Record Office as they appear from year to year. One of the latest issues is Vol. 2 of Materials for a History of Henry VII. In this I find under date of 1490, that special livery and seizen was granted to John Baldwin "in respect of all manors, lands and possessions which have descended, or ought to descend, to the said John from his brother Richard, or any of his ancestors." Attached to this grant is a petition of Jane Baldwin, of Aylesbury, widow, reciting that her son Richard, deceased, held "certain lands and livehood by soeagehold" which descended to his brother John "as verray true heire," and that soon after Richard's decease the escheator for the county "found an office wrongfully upon the said livehood in favor of the King, and that process had been awarded against the petitioner for payment of arrearages to her great wrong, from which she seeks to be relieved." This Jane was undoubtedly the mother of Richard and John of Oterarsfe, and probably received the rents of the manor during John's minority, which terminated in 1490, which is the date of these entries.

I gave, a few days ago, Mr. Chester's report of the English ancestry of Sylvester Baldwin to the editor of the New England Hist. and Gen. Reg., for publication.

It was Col. Chester's desire that I should do so, and I think the gross errors in Miss Bainbridge's pedigree ought to be exposed and corrected.

They may, as they now stand, mislead other seekers after truth who have not access to your volume. Very truly yours,

G. W. BALDWIN.

CHAS. C. BALDWIN, Esq., Cleveland, Ohio.

The will of William Dormer, dated 1506, names some Baldwins whom I cannot identify with Sir John or his children.

It names Agnes Baldwin, who may be Sir John's mother, wife, or daughter. William, probably his son, who died childless. He mentions, also, John Baldwin the younger, Alice Baldweyn and Richard Baldweyn.

Sir John died October 24, 1545.

Dundridge (Parish Aston Clinton Bucks) and "the Braies" were granted to Sir John, and came to be owned by the line of ancestry which emigrated to New England.

Present Farm House at Dundridge from the Rear.

Richard Baldwin<sup>1</sup> of "Dondridge," (Dundridge) made his will 155 $\frac{2}{3}$ . He had a wife Ellen and children,

2. Henry +

3. John<sup>2</sup> who was living as late as 1599.

4. Richard. +

5. Alice.

6. Agnes m. 1566 William Grange, and died the next year.

7. Cicely.

8. Lettice in 1 $\frac{5}{6}$  $\frac{2}{6}$  $\frac{0}{6}$  was the wife of Foster, and in 161 $\frac{5}{6}$  is mentioned in the will of her nephew Robert, as living in Tring, County Herts.

2. Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup> in 157 $\frac{5}{6}$  became the owner in fee of Dundridge, and his will is dated 1 $\frac{5}{6}$  $\frac{2}{6}$  $\frac{0}{6}$ . His wife was Alice, who also made her will in 1622.

They had children,

9. Richard.<sup>3</sup> His will was dated 163 $\frac{5}{6}$ . He married Christian Towekfield (Tuckfield) at Cholesbury, in 1592. He died childless in 1636, and she in 1641. Both made wills and his was the means of proving the connection of the families of Milford Baldwins.

10. Sylvester.<sup>3</sup> +

11. John.<sup>3</sup> +

12. Robert. +

13. Jane m. James Bonus and had seven children.

14. Mary m. Richard Salter and had seven children.

15. Agnes, bapt. 1579, m. Henry Stonehill, and had at least three children, one of whom, Henry, was in Milford, Conn., in 1639, but returned in 1646 to England, and Mr. Lambert, the historian, of Milford, says, to London.

4. Richard<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>. He was not twenty-three years old in 155 $\frac{2}{3}$  and by his father's will had the tenements, lands in Cholesbury Bucks (joining Aston Clinton.) He may probably have been the father of Richard of Cholesbury, who made his will in 1630. As the last was an important line, I will preserve the place by marking him as certainly the son of the former.

16. Richard.<sup>3</sup> +

10. Sylvester<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>. His elder brother having died childless, the line continued through him. He was living at the date of his grandmother's will in 156 $\frac{5}{6}$ , and evidently dead at the date of his brother Richard 16 Feb'y, 163 $\frac{5}{6}$ . He m., as appears by Cholesbury records, 28 Sept. 1590, Jane Wells. In the pedigree entered by his grandson in the herald's visitation of Buckinghamshire, 1669, he is called of Milton, in Bedfordshire. In Milton Ernest, near Bedford, his own name does not appear, but the marriage and burial of one of his daughters does, and perhaps the burial of his eldest son. By the death of Richard, Dundridge came into the possession of his son Henry, and continued in the line of his descendants until the year 1748, when it was sold out of the family.

16. George died young and buried in Cholesburg, 21 Nov. 1596.

17. John, living  $15\frac{2}{3}\frac{2}{0}$ , but evidently dead in 163 $\frac{2}{3}$ , when Henry is named as next heir of his uncle Richard. He was no doubt the one buried at Milton Ernest, 10 Feb'y, 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . He was church warden there 1627, 1629, 1630. It is probable he died unmarried. He made a will but it has disappeared.

18. Henry.+

19. Sylvester.+

20. Richard.+

21. William.+

22. Jane, living 1622.

23. Alice. She m. 4 May, 1629, John Edwards, of Milton Ernest, and was buried there the next 6th of July.

11. John<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>. He had in  $15\frac{2}{3}\frac{2}{0}$  from his father lands in Wendover, and he and his children are remembered in the will of his mother in 1622, and he was living in 1634, when his son Richard made a will. On the 14 Oct. 1637, his widow, Hannah, was granted letters of administration on his estate and he was then described as of Chesham, County Bucks. The bond was signed by her and John Baldwin, of Chesham, Mercer. Their children named in the will of Alice in 1622 were

24. Richard, of London, will prove 1634. He was apparently just commencing business and unmarried. He remembers his father and mother, his brother John, and his brothers-in-law, Thomas Dudsbury, Thomas Ward and Thomas Butcher. The names of their wives I cannot identify, though their names appear below. He remembers, also, his uncle Richard, and the poor of Chesham, where he says he was born. The rest of his bequests were to friends and servants in London. Could Thomas Ward have been the one in Milford, Conn., in 1657?

25. Mary.

26. Agnes.

27. Martha.

28. John, remembered in the will of his grandmother in 1622, uncle, in 1637, and brother Richard, in 1634. The late Mr. Chester, (who made the remarkably successful investigation into the genealogical history of the Baldwins in England from which this in the main is taken), says that after signing the bond in 1637, no further trace of John is to be found in England. As will be seen, his cousins, Baldwin,

Bryant and Stonehill, emigrated to America, and it is very likely he was one of the several Johns who settled in New England and more likely one of the Johns who settled in Milford.

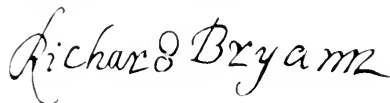

Mr. Chester thought him likely to be John of Norwich, though he may well have been John Senior, of Milford. Both went first to Milford, and John of Norwich, by tradition, came with relatives, but with neither father, mother, or brother. The tradition very well fits John in that respect, though possibly his age would as well fit John Senior.

12. Robert<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>. He was the fourth and youngest son of Henry and Alice Baldwin. To him were devised lands in Flaunden, Hempstead, and elsewhere in Hertfordshire. His will as of North Church Herts, dated 22 March, 160<sup>5</sup>, was proved there April 1st following, by his brother Richard, his executor. After small bequests to his aunt Lettice Foster, of Tring, and to the poor of St. Leonard's and Cholesbury, he left his estate to his wife Joane and his daughter Anne. He evidently died young, and Anne was an infant.

29. Anne. Before 163<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> she had married Alexander Bryant, and her son Richard at that date, with herself, had a bequest from her uncle Richard of a freehold tenement in Wendover Bucks. Alexander Bryan or Bryant, was son of Thomas of Aylesbury.* His autograph shows his old age. He was well educated.

Alexander and his wife were among the first settlers in Milford, Conn., in 1639. He was a man of great influence in the Colony of New Haven, and after the union with Connecticut assistant from 1668 to 1673. She died 1661. In 1663, he and his son sold the property in Wendover to Edward Baldwin<sup>5</sup> Henry<sup>4</sup> Richard.<sup>3</sup> The original deed is in my possession, and I add from it the autograph of 16. Richard<sup>6</sup> Richard<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup> of Cholesbury; weaver, made his will dated December 23, 1630. As he is the father of no less than four of the first settlers of New England, I give his short will in full:

"In the name of God, amen. I, Richard Baldwin, of Cholesbury, in the county of Bucks, weaver, being weak in body, but of perfect and good remembrance, blessed be God, therefore, do make and ordayne this my last will and testament in maner

*A more extended sketch of the Bryans will appear later in this volume.

Item: I give unto Mr. Hall, the minister, xxs. Item: All the rest of my lands, goods, cattel, chattels, moveables, households and whatsoever else myne is here unbequested, I give unto Timothy, myne eldest sonn, whom I make my full and whole executor to this my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seale the 23 of December, 1630.

Witness hereunto:

RICHARD CRIPPS.

RICHARD BALDWIN.

The foregoing signature is from the original will still extant. The will was proved in the Court of the Archdeaoury of Bucks, 16 May, 1633.

Of his wife Isabell I know no more.

30. Timothy,<sup>4</sup> eldest son, settled in Milford, Conn., as one of the earliest settlers, 1639. See hereafter Timothy of Milford.

31. Nathaniel,<sup>4</sup> probably the next son, also settled in Milford, and appears hereafter as well as in my first volume as Nathaniel of Milford.

32. Joseph,<sup>4</sup> also settled in Milford and Hadley, and appears hereafter as Joseph<sup>1</sup> of Milford and Hadley.

33. Mary, m. Pratt and had at least a daughter Mary.

34. Hanna. I know only what appears in the above will.

35. Christian.

36. Sarah emigrated to New England. I believe her to be the Sarah who m. 19 March, 1639, John Searle, of Springfield, Mass., who died 11 August, 1641. They had a son.

John Searle<sup>6</sup> 30 March, 1641, settled in Northampton; m. 1667, Ruth, dau. William Jones, who d. 1672, by whom he had four ch., of whom only John<sup>6</sup> Aug. 6, 1670, lived past infancy. Ruth d. Nov., 1672, and John m. 2nd May, 1675, Mary North, dau. of John, and had ch. James, 1676; Mary, about 1678; Ebenezer, 1680; Ruth, 1681; Sarah, 1684; Nathaniel, 1686; Lydia, 1688. John Searle died 1718 and his widow, 1726.

Sarah (Baldwin) Searle m. 2nd April 28, 1642, Alexander Edwards, of Springfield; from Wales about 1640. They removed to Northampton in 1655, where he d. 1690. Her brother Joseph removed from Milford, Conn., to Hadley, an adjoining town, and the settlement of his estate is found at Northampton. Alexander and Sarah Edwards had:

Samuel Edwards? 7 March, 1643; Freeman, of Northampton, 1690, and family.
Hannah, 1645.

Joseph, 1647, of Northampton, in 1690—had a family.

Mary, 1650; m. 1670 John Field, of Hatfield, son of Zechariah, and had John 1672; Zechariah, 1676; Benjamin, 1679; Mary, 1681; Bethia, 1684; Sarah, 1688; Ebenezer and Abilena, twins, 1690.

Benjamin, 1652, m. 1681 Thankful, dau. of Isaac Sheldon, and left a family.
Sarah, 1654.

Nathaniel, 1657, of Northampton, in 1690, and had a family.

Elizabeth, 1690.

18. Henry<sup>4</sup> Sylvester<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard.<sup>1</sup> By the death of his two elder brothers he became next heir as well as considerable legatee of his uncle Richard will dated 1633 $\frac{2}{3}$  proved 1636. He was a barrister at law of Clifford's Inn., London. He m. Mary, only daughter and heir of Edward Hurst, of Kingston-upon-Thames, County Surrey. He lived afterward in Guilford, Surrey. His will is dated 1661. One clause in his will reads as follows: "I give to ye use of my brother Sylvester——or the issue of them——shall be ——equally to be divided." The blanks were never filled. Sylvester had died in 1638, and his surviving children were in New England.

Edward, of Guilford, who inherited Dundryge and bought other lands, among which was that of the Bryants and land belonging to his cousin Richard, son of Sylvester. A full account of himself and his descendants appears in my original volume and is unnecessary here.

In 1662 he was granted the following Arms:

Argent, a chevron ermines between three hazel sprigs vert.

Crest: A squirrel sejant, or, holding a hazel sprig vert.

Thomas, will proved 1676-7.

Jane.

19. Sylvester<sup>4</sup> Sylvester<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard.<sup>1</sup> He was the emigrant to New England who died on board ship Martin, June or July, 1638. He is first mentioned in the will of his uncle Richard, in 1633 $\frac{2}{3}$  as executor and residuary legatee—a high compliment to his nephew from a man of the property and apparent good sense of Richard—especially as the next heir of Richard was a prosperous lawyer. He m. in England, Sarah Bryan, no doubt a relative of Alexander Bryan. She survived and married Capt. John Astwood, a leading citizen of Milford, who died in London as Agent of the Colony. Her will was proved 9 Nov., 1669. He had children.

In the first volume of the Massachusetts Record (p. 234) is a minute of the probate of Sylvester's nuncupative will.

"A court of assistants held at Boston the 1th of the 7th month, 1638.

"1 Sept. the will of Silvester Bauldwin was p'sented unto the court, and his wife Sarah and some Ridid were allowed executors according to the will."

I have never been able to find the record of what were the terms of this will, though I was assisted in my search at the State House in Boston, and also at the Probate Records, by the late Hon. James Savage, who gives some idea of its terms in his Genealogical Dictionary.

Sarah, bapt. April 22, 1621, in Aston Clinton; m. Hon. Benjamin Fenn, of Milford, Conn.

Benjamin Fenn

He was a man of mark in the new Colonies and left a distinguished posterity, for Richard, bapt. Aug. 25, 1622, settled in Milford, 1639, and is Richard,<sup>1</sup> of Milford hereafter. + which, see my first book.

Mary, bapt. 162 $\frac{3}{4}$ , buried 1625.

Mary again bapt. Feb'y 19, 1625-6; m. 1st Robert Plum, of Milford, and 2d, Sargeant William East. For her descendants see my first volume.

Martha, bapt. April 20, 1628. Neither she or her children appear in the very full will of her mother, and I conclude she died without issue.

Samuel, bapt. 1632, buried the next January.

Elizabeth, bapt. Jan'y 28, 163 $\frac{3}{4}$  and buried three days after.

John, bapt. Oct. 28, 1635, appears hereafter as John<sup>1</sup> of Stonington, Conn.

Ruth appears in Sylvester's nuncupative will, but not in that of her mother. She probably died young.

20. Richard<sup>1</sup> Sylvester<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard.<sup>1</sup> He was living in 1622 and 163 $\frac{3}{4}$ , but likely dead at the date of the will of his brother Henry, in 1661.

By his wife, Phillippa Corbman, as nearly as I can make out the name of his wife in the old record at Aylesbury, in April, 1607. He had at least Rebecca, bapt. June 23, 1611.

Alice, bapt. Aug. 22, 1613.
John, bapt. Feb'y 19, 1614-5.
Jane, bapt. April 12, 1618.
Henry, bapt. Feb'y 8, 1624.
Sarah, bapt. Nov. 23, 1627.

Mr. Chester found no trace of these children in England, and his search was so remarkably thorough and successful that it makes it probable that the sons, at least, emigrated to America. There was a Richard Baldwin in Braintree, Mass., 1637. His name appears only in Winthrop's History of New England, Vol. 2, p. 348. He had a daughter Jane of some age. He appears no more in New England, and if this one (which I think probable), returned to England, where his wife died 1641. I think it probable that he was father of John, of Billerica and Henry of Woburn, both of whom appear hereafter. John and Henry both married in Woburn. They lived at some distance from each other, but Henry was witness to John's will in 1686. The Baldwins of Billerica, descendants of John, write: "We always supposed John and Henry were brothers." By tradition reduced to writing in 1738 by a great-grandson of John, he was from Hertfordshire, which would seem to identify him with the family of Baldwins which was in both counties near the adjoining border.

21. William<sup>4</sup>Sylvester<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard,<sup>1</sup> living 1622 and 1676. I know nothing of him only from the wills of his relatives, where it appears that he had ch.

William, living 1661 and 1676.
Margaret, living 1661.
Daughter, in 1661 wife of Markwick.

Among them was probably Triamor Baldwin, of London, whose will was dated and proved 1729. He left £100 to his brother William Baldwin then living in or near New York, and £100 each to his nephews Triamor and William, sons of said William, his brother, and placed the nephew Triamor last in the line of remainder to certain property (one-fourth of the old Marshalsea Prison, immortalized by Dickens,) which he devised first to his son Thomas.

Who William in or near New York was, I cannot tell. He could not have been William of Bucks County, Penn., who was from Yorkshire. He may have been William of Stratford, Conn., m. Ruth Brooks 1688, but no son Triamor appears there. A second William does, for whom I cannot account unless he was son of the first.

A family that not unlikely is connected with that of Buckinghamshire is that that settled in Chester, Penn., consisting of three brothers :

Francis.

John.

Thomas, born in Oxfordshire, England, December, 1657.

This family was from Oxfordshire, but from what parish is not known.

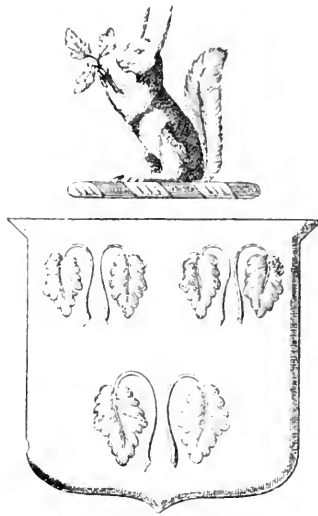

In the 12th Volume of the Plymouth Colony Records is an entry:

"1648 John Balden covenanted with Mr. Wm. Colliar, of Duxborow, to work from 20 Dec., 1648, for ye W— C—to give John Balden meat, Drinke and cloathing, lodging and washing, and at the end of four year's service to give the said John Balden a heaifer of two years old before me.

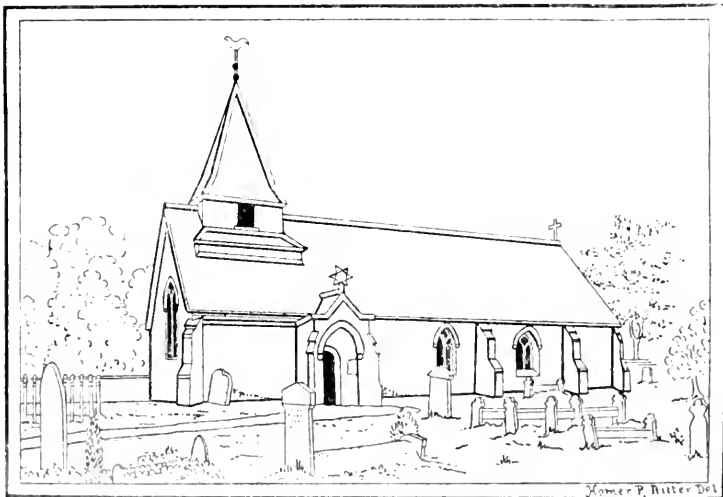

MILES STANDISH."

No John is represented in my book likely to have been this John, and it may have been John Bolden.

Above is a cut of Arms appearing in the Chapel of St. Leonard's

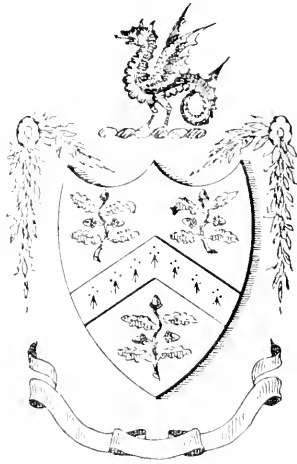

Chapel of St. Leonard's, Buckinghamshire.

in the parish of Aston Clinton and close by Dundry. They are on the mural monument of Samuel Baldwin. They are unacorned. The Arms of Sir John Baldwin appear in Dugdale's "Origines Juridicales," as three oak leaves slipped (in pairs) similar to the above. In Lipscomb, they are said to be three oak leaves slipped, acorned proper (natural color.) These Arms appear unacorned in the Middle Temple as the Arms of Richard Baldwin (of this vicinity).

The Arms granted in 1662 to Edward Baldwin, of Wilton, (of the line hereinbefore described) are "argent a chevron ermine, between three oak branches proper," and may be supposed to be, save the crest, much like the following cut which comes from the descendants of Henry Baldwin, of the Woburn line, and was probably drawn up over one hundred years ago.

JEDUTHUN BALDWIN.
 † LUKE BALDWIN †

The same Arms are used by the Baldwins of County Cork, Ireland, who are said to have emigrated there in the time of Elizabeth from County Bucks.

The Baldwins of Herts and Bucks, who had Arms shortly after the time of Sir John had assigned them Arms quite similar to his, and I believe that they had probably this reason for it that they were collaterally related to him.

The first cut has the usual crest of the Baldwins of the vicinity, a squirrel sejant or (sitting in gold) holding a sprig of hazel or oak, sometimes acorned and sometimes unacorned, but always to be painted of natural color.

(p 66) The History of Bechampton Bucks, p. 145, says:

"In the name or body of the church the portrait of a man in brass in a gown over him, this on a brass tablet:

"Behold I happie am indeed of fleshly man releast;
Who, having changed the mener state do now enjoy the best,
For ——— the fixed order set of things by God's decree,
Hath finished mortal life to live with God eternally.' "

"At his feet on a brass tablet, this: 'Here lieth the body of William Baldwyn, of Bechampton Blacksmith, who dyed the 8 day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1800.' "

"In the south aisle on a grave stone the portraiture of a woman in brass, at her feet on a brass plate, this:

"Here lyeth the body of Alice Baldwyn, daughter of William Matthew, of Calverton, Esquare, the wife of George Baldwin, by whom she had issue two sons and two daughters, viz: William, George, Jane and Isabell, and ended her days in childbed and in the faith of Christ, the 21st day Feb., Anno Domini, 1611, aged 30 years.' "

"Underneath, two male and two female children in brass."

THE NAME BALDWIN.

I do not care to repeat what I have said in my first volume as to the name, but there follow some notes by Rev. Elijah C. Baldwin, a learned antiquarian of New Haven, Conn., editor and proprietor of The Home World, and taken, with his permission, from the first volume of that work. They will be of interest, though there is no reason to suppose that the Baldwins mentioned are in ancestral line with those of America.

“The name is an old German or Scandinavian one, meaning ‘Bold-winner’ or ‘Bold, courageous friend.’ In Latin it is Balduinus; French, Baudouin; Italian, Baldovino, Balduino; German, Baldwin. One of the first of the name that appears in any prominence was Baldwin, son of Gan, a young French knight, killed with so many other noble youths at the battle of Roncesvalles, A.D. 778. Another is named Baldwin, son of Ogier, the Dane, slain by Charlon, the son of Charlemagne.

“This would seem to fix the name as of Danish origin, and coming with other Northmen to Normandy.

“In 837 A.D. we hear of ‘Baldwin of the Iron Arm,’ the founder of Bruges. He was so called from his skill in wielding the battle-axe.

“Flanders was then a wilderness governed by ‘foresters’ appointed by the king of France. Baldwin of the Iron Arm was so appointed. In his visits at court he won the love of Judith, the beautiful daughter of Charles. Though opposed by her father she married the brave forester, who himself swayed much power. The king then harrassed by the Danes, was unable to avenge what he regarded an insult. He applied to the Pope, who excommunicated Baldwin. But he in turn pleaded his cause—the cause of true love—so eloquently the Pope withdrew his censures and induced Charles to pardon his children. Baldwin and the fair Judith were received into favor and the title of 'Forrester' changed to 'Count.' Their descendants ruled in the Dukedom of Flanders for many years. They are known as mild, useful rulers, beneath whose care the land flourished. The line is thus given:

"The first ruled from 837 to 877; the second ruled from 888 to 918; the third ruled from 918 to 989; the fourth ruled from 989 to 1034; the fifth ruled from 1034 to 1067.

"This one was regent of France during the minority of Philip.

"The sixth ruled from 1067 to 1070; the seventh ruled from 1070 to 1071; the eighth ruled from 1071 to 1119; the ninth from 1119 to 1195.

"In the tenth and eleventh centuries the crusades convulsed all Europe. Every prominent family was constrained to send its representatives to the East. The Baldwins of Flanders and England were numerously represented as leaders in the successive armies that went forth to deliver Palestine from infidels. Godfrey Bouillon married a daughter of the Flanders family. He took some of his wife's brothers with him on that successful campaign which resulted in the conquest of Jerusalem.

"One was made first king of Jerusalem after Godfrey in 1100 and conquered the most important cities on the sea-coast of Palestine, from 1101 to 1109. He is known in history as Baldwin the 1st. He died in 1118, being succeeded by a brother as Baldwin 2d. He was taken prisoner in 1124, and removed in 1126, and died in 1131.

"His nephew was next chosen third Emperor in 1144. He married in the family of Comnenus, the Greek Emperor, in 1158, and died in 1162.

"Baldwin 4th ruled from 1173 to 1185. Baldwin 5th from 1185 only a few months, being poisoned. Soon afterwards in 1187 Jerusalem was recaptured by Saladin. Later in 1204 a Baldwin was Emperor of Constantinople. He was taken by the king of the Bulgarians and died before 1206. In 1228 another succeeded him as Baldwin 2d, but he was dethroned by Michael Palaeologus in 1261 and died in 1273.

"Tasso in his poem of 'Jerusalem Delivered' often speaks of the Baldwins.

"Baldwin he sees ambitiously aspire
The height of human grandeur to attain."

"Next in the muster, Baldwin shows conjoined
With his own Lorrainers, his brother's band."

"But who is he that as an equal vies
With him, in mantle of resplendent red?
How like in form and visage! e'en his tread
Betrays a strange similitude, though less
I deem his stature: That rejoined the maid,
Is Baldwin, like in aspect and address,
But brother most in soul and princely nobleness."

"I took Cilicia, and on Tarsus' towers
Planted the Cross before all peoples' eyes.
But Baldwin came and with his peaceful powers
Admitted, basely robb'd me of my prize;
Sweet friendship he professed so fair a guise
Mask'd his ambitious purpose from my sight,
That ere I was aware his avarice
Hand sprung the mine!"

"To Baldwin Godfrey issues his command:
Now to the conflict move thy gallant Frison band!"
"Meanwhile swift messengers on every hand,
To Godfrey warning of rebellion bring;
And armed Baldwin with his unsheath'd hand
Fast by his brothers' side in silence takes his stand."

"Baldwin, Archbishop of Canterbury,* with a train of 200 horse and 300 foot, his banner inscribed with the name of Thomas O'Becket, went on a Crusade with Richard Ceour de Lion in 1120.

"Matilda Baldwin, a daughter of the Duke of Flanders, married William of Normandy, the conqueror of England, and went to England with him. Her sister married Tosti, the brother of Harold king of England, 1066.

"It would appear that there was a Baldwin in England as early as 672 A.D.

"Baldwin 2nd of Flanders married Elstreth, daughter of Alfred the Great.

"There were Baldwins Earls of Devonshire, called in Normandy Baudoin des Riviers, and in England Baldwin de l'Isle. Baldwin of Redvers, the Earl, was the first to rebel against Stephen."

and was a prominent and leading business man. He was, for several years before he died in 1665, a member of the General Court, and when he died, a member of the Committee of New Haven Colony to join with Connecticut, but he died pending negotiations. He projected the settlement of Derby; got the grant from the General Court, and was the "moderator" there, with large powers, but he never lived there. His biography appears at length in my former book, with an account of his nine children and their descendants. The sons who left descendants now living of the name, are

Elias<sup>6</sup> Ezekiel<sup>5</sup> Zechariah<sup>4</sup>. His grand-son, Stephen L. Baldwin says he was son of Ezekiel, son of Daniel, son of John. I know not his authority for the ancestry of Ezekiel, and in absence of that, cannot give that line, nor can I find such a place for Ezekiel. He says Elias had no son Mitchell, but had a first son Smith and a second Daniel, and several other sons and daughters, and that some of his descendants live near Montezuma, N. Y. By report of his nephew Enoch, he had ch.: Mitchell and Daniel.

She published a small grammar for schools; published in a pamphlet a list of the names of all the scholars who attended her schools, and was very highly esteemed, being still most pleasantly remembered by the aged people. Introduction to the pamphlet published 1820 or 1826: 'I commenced school teaching in February, 1788, and have taught both summer and winter each successive season, with the exception of one summer. I have taught in thirty-five different neighborhoods in the towns of New Milford, Washington, Roxbury, Woodbury, Sherman and Wilton, in the State of Conn., and in Pawling, N. Y. I have taught 1,803 different scholars; 59 couples who have been my pupils have been married together, and perhaps many more of whom I have no knowledge. All the children of 73 different families have been my pupils. I have had 107 scholars that one or both of the parents have been under my tuition. I have had 107 scholars the descendants of one family. In one instance, I have taught the grandfather, children and grand-children. I am at this time in the business of school-teaching'."

Since the above was in type Mr. Baldwin himself died on the 5th of April, 1887.

The Hartford Courant, of April 6 and 8, 1887, contains notices from which extracts are made, but much left out because of the notices already given himself and brother Seymour in the former volume.

In 1833, the brothers, J. and S. Baldwin, started a Yankee notion store in Middletown, Conn., and also manufactured silver spoons and plated ware. J. G. continued the business, which prospered. He employed at one time thirty men and sent out many traveling salesmen.

He became an active and influential Abolitionist at the earliest agitation of the subject, and from the commencement, entirely abstained from the use of goods made by slave labor, or dealing in them in any manner. When, in 1833 to 1836, with his partner, Hon. Henry G. Hubbard, they manufactured cotton webbing, the cotton was all raised by freemen.

The only sugar or molasses—or, in fact, any goods used in his family, were the result of free labor—nor at hotels would he partake of anything that was probably raised by slave labor.

He, from the earliest, entertained the much-abused anti-slavery speakers, and his house was once mobbed, and it shows the temper of the times, that the Courant says “that the mob was partly composed of the best citizens. Public sentiment was such in those days that only men of strong convictions, and great moral courage, would openly advocate abolition doctrines, and Mr. Baldwin was that kind of a man. In partnership with the father of Mayor Woodward, he built two schooners. Before entering into the partnership, Mr. Baldwin required an agreement that the vessels thus built should never enter any southern port. After the schooners were ready for the sails, a new difficulty arose, but it was settled that each should buy one-half the sails, and those bought by Mr. Baldwin contained no cotton handled by slaves. These incidents illustrate the policy of Mr. Baldwin during the entire anti-slavery contest.”

The notice of his funeral in the Courant of the 8th, says, among other things:

“Professor Prentice made pertinent remarks concerning the veteran Abolitionist, observing that Mr. Baldwin ‘lived in the light of the Word of God, from which he drew his conviction. Having decided what course it was his duty to pursue in relation to slavery, temperance, political action, etc., he would no sooner violate such conviction than he would the command of God.’”

“During his long life,” says the Courant, “he aided every good cause, and many individuals received assistance from him, though he was a man who did not let his left hand know what his right hand doeth. His views on the questions of slavery and the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic, were, by many, considered extreme and fanatical, but all who were acquainted with him, realized that his conduct was the result of deep study and strong convictions. At the time of his death, although 83 years of age, he was president of the Central National Bank, the People's Fire Insurance Company, the Indian Hill Cemetery Association, and the board of trustees of the Methodist church. As the presiding officer of these four institutions, he was efficient and rarely absent from any of their meetings, until a few weeks ago, when his last sickness confined him to his house. His last great work was in aiding, by his money and counsel, in the building of the new church. He was a land-mark in the town, a quaint, benign, saintly figure; one who will be missed in the streets, and he goes hence crowned with the tender affection of the community."

Said Professor Prentice: "He was a dear, delightful old man." The energetic advocacy and enforcing of his extreme views was always accompanied with such kindness, liveliness and charity as made Mr. Baldwin remarkable.

His wife was as remarkable in her firm, conscientiousness, and bright intelligence as he, always remarkably even and sweet in manner, and with a kindness and charity beyond all praise.

His first wife, Mary Candee, died September 28, 1836, and his son David was born five days before. By error of copyist, the dates were transposed. His second wife, Fidelia Hall, died much loved at Elyria, O., Oct. 12, 1886.

The following extracts are from remarks made by one of the clergymen who officiated at her funeral:

"She was a true and devoted wife and a kind and loving mother. Broad and catholic in spirit, she loved the church of her choice. Though for many years deprived of the public means of grace, and having never been permitted to attend a service in the new and beautiful church, for the locating and building of which her husband so wisely and liberally planned; yet she was always alive to its interests. During the long period in which she was an invalid—quite fifteen years—she was ever patient and uncomplaining. Wednesday before her death was the family reunion, to which she had anxiously looked forward. At the dinner she was seized with a chill, and at night helped to her room, not to leave it. On the Sabbath she asked for the reading of hymns, and as one of which she was fond, repeated the words, 'Send me, send me.' She repeated, 'yes, here I am, send me.'"

For nearly fifty years she had been tenderly and dearly loved by children her own and step-sons.

144. Elmer<sup>6</sup> Noble<sup>5</sup> Isaac<sup>4</sup> Theophilus<sup>3</sup>, b. March 8, 1806, a Northville, New Milford, Conn. He m. 1st 15 Feb'y, 1831, Adeline Benson, dau. of Harvey, of New Milford, Conn. She d. 1837. In 1835 he removed to Farm Ridge, LaSalle County, Ill. In May, 1838, he m. 2nd Adeline O. Field, of Worcester County, Mass. He resides in 1883 on the land bought of the U. S. in 1835, a farmer and nurseryman. He has been Justice of the Peace 14 years; Supervisor, 5 years; Postmaster, 20 years; School Treasurer from the first settlement of the town to 1874; twice a Representative in the Legislature; once a Senator, and a member and President of the Board of State Charities for 5 years.

He wrote a "History of LaSalle County," published in 1877: small 8 vo. 552 pp. An excellent, sensible, interesting volume—presenting a graphic picture of the past, and the changes to the present. Mr. Baldwin is in perfect health. He has not tasted whiskey, tobacco, or meat, in 40 years. This family of B's are large, well made, not very fleshy. Elmer is 6 ft.; Noble Orlando is 6 ft. 4 inches; Noble, over 6 ft. 2 in., and his youngest sister 5 ft., 11½ inches.

446. Harriet Eliza<sup>6</sup> Noble<sup>5</sup> m. Bennett. She died May 21, 1882. Rev. Mr. Orcutt, in his History of New Milford, says, after speaking of her private virtues: "The whole community is bereaved of a noble-hearted woman, and especially the suffering and needy of a tender, sympathizing, generous friend and neighbor. She was a woman of good judgment, thoughtful, careful, and with a retentive memory." I was indebted to no one in New Milford as much as to her for my material in regard to families there. I found her to be a very intelligent, clear, interesting and agreeable lady. Her husband was son of Orrin Bennett, p. 447 Baldwin Genealogy, who m. Martha P. Baldwin: see Addenda to page 447.

635. Silas<sup>6</sup> Silas<sup>5</sup> Barnabas<sup>4</sup>. He died May 1, 1881, and his widow, Eunice Eliza (Newton) Baldwin, died June 15, 1882.

The New Haven Palladium says he was many years before his death a sterling and active business man. For many years he was a prominent church member. He was prominent in the formation of the Pomological Society of New Haven, taking much interest in that and kindred subjects. He was engaged largely in the wholesale shoe trade, with a large Southern trade, until the war broke out, when he became interested in other business. For some years before his death his health was not strong, and he quietly lived in his handsome residence at the corner of College and Crown streets, near New Haven Green.

Mrs. Baldwin is said, on p. 174 of my original book, to have been a daughter of Jonah Newton, of Woodbridge, and granddaughter of Enoch Newton. Enoch Newton is No. 269, page 110 of my original volume, and son of Samuel Newton, who married Deborah Baldwin<sup>4</sup> Thomas<sup>3</sup> Barnabas<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup>. Deborah was born in Milford, Jan'y 25, 1716. So that the children of Silas were descended from Richard Baldwin through both father and mother.

Betsey, the sister of Silas, also, m. Rev. Samuel Newton, son of Samuel, of Woodbridge, son of the Samuel who m. Deborah Baldwin. Brief mention of the earlier ancestors is on page 52 of my original book.

He prepared for Yale College, but went to the West Indies for his health. He settled in business in Greensboro, Ga., and married about 1851, Lydia E. Ford, of Hamden, Conn. In 1857 he moved to Columbia, S. C., engaging in cotton and merchandise (firm of Bronson & Co.) He had strong Union opinions, and went North during the war. He returned to Columbia, in 1865, and was identified with the growth of the city, first, as mayor. He was afterward county assessor and treasurer; then Collector of Internal Revenue, and had charge of building the U. S. court house and post-office. He was appointed Assistant U. S. Treasurer by President Grant, with headquarters at Charleston, and held the position until the office was abolished during Grant's second term. He was then appointed Collector of Customs for Charleston; built the new custom house there, and held office under Presidents Hayes and Garfield. He returned to Columbia, in 1882, and engaged in his old business. He has been interested in banking: was a director of the Commercial Bank of Columbia before the war, and its receiver afterwards: then a director in the bank of E. J. Scott & Co. His life has been quite influential in the reconstruction of South Carolina.

909 (p 201) Charles Candee<sup>6</sup> Seymour W.<sup>5</sup> Charles<sup>4</sup>. By a change in the Constitution of Ohio, a new court of errors and appeals called the Circuit Court, has been organized, and the first Judges were elected in October, 1884. C. C. Baldwin was one of the three elected on the Republican ticket for the 6th Circuit, including Cleveland on the east and Toledo on the west. The convention was held Aug. 14, 1884, composed mainly of lawyers from nine counties. Of the whole number of votes cast (165) Mr. Baldwin received 142. The next highest candidate nominated received 105. Mr. Baldwin received the unanimous vote of his county—65 in number. In Feb'y, 1887, he became the presiding judge of the court.

In December, 1884, he was elected director and president of the Merchants' National Bank, of Cleveland.

The following is from the Cleveland Leader of November 10, 1886:

"The Trustees of the Western Reserve Historical Society met to-day for the purpose of selecting a successor to the late President, Charles Whittlesey. Hon. J. W. Allen presided, and Hon. C. C. Baldwin was unanimously elected to the office of President. The selection is one of eminent fitness. Mr. Baldwin has been actively and intelligently connected with the Society as Secretary, Trustee, and trustee of invested funds since the formation of the Association. He is favorably known by historical, scientific and antiquarian societies, both in this country and Europe. The Society may congratulate itself on the wise and efficient choice it has made, and especially will the intelligent public of this community approve its action."

His mother died five days after. He, however, about a year after, received the kind care of an affectionate step-mother, which, in later days, was returned by him. In her later years he was the only son remaining at home, and few sons are as careful, kind, thoughtful and attentive as he to his invalid mother. He was educated in Meriden and Middletown, Conn., and in Wilbraham, Mass., and at an early age entered his father's store as a clerk. He proved to be very competent and efficient, having a remarkable tact and judgement. Soon after he became of age he had an interest in the firm of Baldwin, Laundon, Nelson & Co. In 1872, on a re-organization of the firms, at Elyria and Wellington, O., the large business at Elyria came into the care of D. C. Baldwin & Co., composed of himself, his father and Mr. John Lersch, and has long been under his management, with the able assistance of Mr. Lersch.

The firm has now become, with the same partners, Baldwin, Lersch & Co. Mr. Baldwin has the reputation of being an accomplished merchant. His life is, however, not absorbed by his business. He is an intelligent, observing foreign traveler, and at home is an intelligent archæologist. No one knows as much of the interesting antiquities of his county as himself. He has a most romantic place within a few hundred feet of the railroad depot, yet out of sight of it. The river to Lake Erie is romantic, indeed, with an entertaining variety of remains of ancient life—an antique and famous shelter-cave—mounds, forts and rock inscriptions, and Mr. Baldwin can give the fine individual characteristics of each place.

His library contains a well-chosen collection of books on such subjects, and few people, indeed, are surrounded in life with more to satisfy their tastes.

He is a life member of the Western Reserve Historical Society, at Cleveland, and the donor of a very fine collection of bone and stone implements, flints and pottery from various sources, including the Swiss Lake dwellings, known as the "D.C. Baldwin Collection."

He m. May 1, 1878, Miss Josie Staub, a lady of fine education and taste, born in Circleville, O., Oct. 19, 1852. Her descent appears in my first volume.

Mr. Baldwin had the shortest experience in the war, being lieutenant in the Hundred Days' Service, but had a lively skirmish on the farm in Virginia on which John Brown located for his campaign.

There is reason to hope from his graceful pen a description of the Ancient Works of his county for the Historical Society, at Cleveland.

Mr. Baldwin is a capitalist and a director in the National Bank of Elyria.

He has retired from farming and lives in the corporation. Mr. Baldwin is a man of very active mind and great energy. The Faribault paper has a long account of his new, and handsome house. He was prominent in getting the water works established at Faribault, and later, in 1886, he conceived and executed the enterprise of procuring the removal of sewing machine works there. While in the legislature he was quite prominent in the plan which resulted in taking up and redeeming by compromise Minnesota's repudiated bonds.

184. John Dennison<sup>6</sup> Daniel<sup>5</sup> John<sup>4</sup> John<sup>3</sup> Theophilus.<sup>2</sup> John was born Sept. 18, 1809, in North Stonington.

I was very much indebted to him for his contribution to my book of information as to the descendants of John, of Stonington, he having doubled the number I had otherwise traced.

His decease and the biographical information following it, give me the means of a much more precise notice than I could give him in my original book. I use the notice of him presented by Mr. S. E. Staples, of Worcester, Mass., to the Worcester Society of Antiquity.

He died at Worcester, July 8, 1883. He m. April 3, 1832, Lemira Hatheway, dau. of Capt. Ebenezer Hatheway, of Dighton, Mass., who survived him.

The family moved, in 1816, to Chenango County, New York, and returned, in 1823, to North Stonington. He applied himself with great diligence to the pursuit of an education. At seventeen he became a teacher, and at same time student in Yale. He did not complete the college course in regular order. He began the study of law but abandoned it for theology. He preached for a while, then entered Yale Divinity School, finishing the course in 1834. In 1839 he received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from Yale. He preached in West Woodstock until 1837 : in North Branford, from 1838 to 1845, and at North Killingly, from 1846 to 1849.

He early exhibited his sagacity, public spirit and great vigor of intellect.

The New Haven Palladium said of him that he was full of queer information which he wrought into his sermons so that it set people thinking. "Then he loved pets of all kinds and could talk with us about them, asking us about them : asking us as though he wished to learn from us, and making us respect ourselves and him too."

He learned French and German, and by 1844 began to give special attention to archæology and ancient history. He was interested in science as well, and was one of the first, as an amateur, to make daguerreotypes.

While pastor at North Killingly, he was elected to the legislature as a Free Soiler. As chairman of the committee on education, he reported the bill to establish normal schools. In 1850 that bill became a law and the first one was established. He was a member of its first board of trustees.

He was influential in organizing the Free Soil party. In furtherance of the object, and to exert an influence more than his voice could do, he gave attention to journalism. He succeeded to the publication of The Charter Oak, printed in Hartford ; afterward the Republican. In 1852 he left the Republican for Boston to take control of The Daily Commonwealth.

This paper was identified with the eminent philanthropists, of Mass., with whom he was a daily friend.

In 1859, with his sons John Stanton and Charles Clinton, he bought the Worcester Daily and Weekly Spy, and continued through his life with that paper. It was a very old paper, but not on a successful footing when the new owners assumed control, but it soon became and continued a very successful, leading and influential paper. Mr. Baldwin, by his character, became a representative man, and had a wide journalistic influence.

He was a delegate to the Republican national convention of 1860, where his ability and influence was appreciated, and at his suggestion Hannibal Hamlin was nominated on the ticket with Lincoln.

His reputation suggested his nomination for Congress, and he was elected in 1862, by a large majority, to the 38th congress, and by larger majorities to the 39th and 40th.

His services here were substantial. Mr. Baldwin was not a rapid writer, but wrote much, and left a very enviable literary record. He was at some periods of his life a large contributor to the quarterlies and magazines.

He possessed a genius for the beautiful in nature, art and poetry. One of his earliest books was of poems.

He was a man of imposing stature, exceeding six feet of large frame and strength. He had a massive head, and in early years an erect figure and stalwart proportions and an aspect of uncommon force and dignity.

His mind, like his body, was large and vigorous. His sagacity was great. Though much of a recluse, especially in his later years, he knew human nature well, and could foresee with great accuracy the political effect of any measure or event. His election forecasts were singularly near the truth, and his judgment of men, their character, capabilities and popularity was rarely at fault. His advice in political matters was often sought and highly valued. As a writer he was direct, clear, and forcible. His style had no ornament. It was sometimes rugged, but always strong and sincere. His wide range of reading and retentive memory gave him a vast store of facts. His knowledge of political history was especially large and accurate. Though his profession kept his mind much occupied with such subjects, his favorite pursuit was antiquity—in the dim past—of which authentic history gives only hints and suggestions. He found a similar mental exercise in his later years in the study of genealogy.

The Hartford Courant aptly characterized him as a man of the highest character, a self-educated man of broad scholarship, earnest in the cause of human rights in the days when it required courage as well as convictions. His life-work has been long, honorable, and useful, and he goes to his reward leaving to all who knew him or felt his influence, a blessed memory.

Mr. Baldwin was an honored member of The American Oriental Society, The New England Historic-Genealogical Society, The American Antiquarian Society, and the Worcester Society of Antiquity. Among his published books were several sermons, several speeches in congress. The volume of poems was issued in 1847, by Wm. D. Ticknor & Co., of Boston, and entitled "The Story of Raymond Hill, and Other Poems."

The following were published by Harper Brothers:

"Prehistoric Nations, or Inquiries Concerning Some of the Great Peoples and Civilizations of Antiquity, and their Probable Relations to a Still Older Civilization of the Ethiopian or Cushites of Arabia," 1869.

In 1872: "Ancient America in Notes on American Archæology." This book had a large circulation, displayed great good sense and has had much influence in directing inquiry to the early history of this continent.

His books on genealogy were "A Record of the Descendants of John Baldwin, of Stonington, Conn., with Notices of Other Baldwins who Settled in America in Early Colonial Times," 1880. "A Record of the Descendants of Capt. George Denison, of Stonington, Conn.," prepared by Mr. Baldwin and Rev. William Clift, 1881.

"Thomas Stanton, of Stonington, Conn., an Incomplete Record of his Descendants," 1882. His children are—

JOHN BALDWIN, OF NORWICH, CONNECTICUT,

John Baldwin<sup>1</sup>, of Norwich, Conn., with little doubt came with some family of Milford related to him. It is supposed to be that of Sylvester, the father of Richard, of Milford, and of John of Stonington. There is strong evidence that he was "cousen" of John of Stonington, but the word then covered other relationships than it does now. It is very difficult to identify him among the Johns of Bucks, but he was, with little or no doubt, a very near relation of Sylvester, and very likely, nephew. He was the ancestor of a distinguished family through two sons who had issue.

20.(p 274) John<sup>1</sup> John<sup>3</sup> John<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>, b. Aug. 14, 1717, must be the one I doubt not who m. in Lebanon, Conn., June 12, 1751, Mary Binney, and had ch.

1. Jacob, d. infant.

2. Mary, May 3, 1753.

3. Jacob, May 16, 1755, may well be No. 50, on pages 274 and 279 of my first book, assigned to Benjamin, brother of John, with great doubt, as being cousin to the nephews of John. He settled in Ballston, Saratoga County, N. Y., and in Benton, Yates County, N. Y., and his descendants will be found in my original volume, page 279 and on following pages.

4. John, Sept. 11, 1757, adds to the numerous Baldwins of that name so difficult for that reason to identify.

5. Hannah, Feb'y 3, 1760.

6. Abigail, Aug. 8, 1762.

21. Benjamin<sup>4</sup> John<sup>3</sup> John<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>, b. April 2, 1727. I can add to what is on page 274, of my original volume, that he m. in Lebanon, Sept. 27, 1750, Ruth Porter; that he had in Lebanon ch.

Sarah, b. Oct., 1752.

Ruth, Aug. 12, 1754, m. 1772, Lemuel Clark.+

Ann, July 9, 1756.

50. Jacob, I have just before this assigned to John.

52. Samuel,<sup>5</sup> I learn from a valued correspondent in Grandville, Ohio, (Mr. Charles W. Bryant) that 52 Samuel, had a brother, and I cannot tell his name or whether one I have, who lived in Otis, Mass., (where lived 49) who had 11 ch., the youngest dying in infancy. He died leaving a wife and 10 ch.; the widow married

2d William Cooley, of Granville, Mass., with 10 ch., a brother of Rev. Doctor Timothy M. Cooley, for nearly 63 years pastor of the Congregational Church in East Granville. William Cooley was born 19 Dec., 1763, and the last of his 11 ch. was born in 1810. His 1st wife, Loanna Barber, born March 9, 1768, d. 31 March, 1813.

53½. I think very probably one of the children of Benjamin, whom I have not traced, was Ebenezer, b. Dec. 10, 1766, who, according to Herrick genealogy, m. in Norwich, Conn., and settled finally in Tioga Point, Susquehanna River, N. Y., and had—

Nathan, b. 1790.

Polly, m. Baldwin.

53. Daniel, it is said, lived and died a bachelor, in Washington Co., Penn., his property descending, likely by will, to the children of Samuel.

105. (p 285) Roger Sherman<sup>5</sup> Simeon<sup>4</sup> Ebenezer<sup>3</sup> Thomas<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>, b. in New Haven, Conn., January 4, 1793. He was graduated at Yale in 1811; studied law at the Litchfield Law School, and was admitted to the bar in 1814, when he commenced the practice of his profession at New Haven, and continued it there until his death, Feb. 19, 1863. He early took strong ground as an anti-slavery man, and in support of those who defended the right of opening schools for colored children in the North. In 1837 and 1838, he was a member of the State Senate, and in the latter year its President pro tempore. In 1840 and 1841, he was a Representative in the Lower House. From 1839 to 1840, he had the main management of the case of the Africans of the Amistad, arguing in their behalf in the District, Circuit, and Supreme Courts of the U. S. In 1844 and 1845, he was Governor of Connecticut, and from 1847 to 1851, one of its Senators in Congress. In 1860, he was a Presidential Elector at large on the Republican ticket, and in 1861 a member of the National Peace Congress, held at Washington. He was recognized as one of the leaders of the Connecticut bar, and besides a very extensive practice which called him into most of the counties of the State, was counsel in many important patent and admiralty suits in the U. S. Courts. He is said to have been the first lawyer in Connecticut whose professional income was $10,000 a year. Trinity and Yale College each conferred upon him the degree of LL.D.

While in the United States Senate he introduced a resolution prohibiting slavery in any territory that might be thereafter organized, and in the Peace Congress, as a member of the committee of one from each State to report a plan of action, he declined to concur in their report which recommended concessions to the slave-holding interests, and submitted a minority report, endorsing the proposal of the Kentucky Legislature for a National Convention to propose amendments to the Constitution.

JOHN BALDWIN, SENIOR, OF MILFORD, CONNECTICUT, AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

1. John Baldwin, Senior, of Milford, Conn., came to Milford with the other Baldwins. He was, no doubt, of the Bucks County Baldwins, and related to the others, but among so many Johns in Buckinghamshire, at that date, he has not been identified. I think it not unlikely that he was the John who, being on board ship Martin, in June, 1638, was witness to the nuncupative will of Sylvester, and was likely his cousin or nephew. He was buried in Milford, June 21, 1681. His first wife was named Mary, and he had by her, sons who had children.

56. Martha Baldwin<sup>3</sup> George<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>, b. Jan'y 13, 1702, m. Dec. 25, 1725, Isaiah Butler, not Josiah, as in my book. The doubt as to the name has been shared by others, but through Miss D. E. Sheldon, of Oswego, N. Y., and Judge Eli F. Rogers, of Branford, I have fac-simile of records which leave no doubt. Her mother, Deborah Rose, was dau. of Deacon John Rose, eldest son of Capt. Jonathan Rose, eldest son of Robert, the first of the family, who, says Rev. Geo. J. Wood, of North Branford, came from the north of England. Nov. 22, 1728, widow Deborah conveyed to her sons, John, David, and Noah, lands from her fathers's estate.

1. Isaiah Butler, Sept. 12, 1726.

2. Samuel, Aug. 26, 1728.

3. Nathan, June 1, 1732, died Oct. 17, 1811, in Clinton, N. Y. He m. 4 Anna B., and 5 Laura A. These daughters are all finely educated in this country and abroad, several having a college and university education, and have done great honor to their parents.

Of the great-grandsons of Nathan Butler, four were at one time in Hamilton College, New York. Henry C. Butler, a lawyer of Rochester, Minn., and grandson of Deacon Salmon Jabez R. Ward, lawyer of Elmira, N. Y., (now deceased) and gr. s. of Lorain Butler Ward, Rev. Stewart Sheldon, son of Deacon Horace Sheldon, and long Superintendent of Home Missions, in Dakota, and his cousin, above-named, E. A. Sheldon.

Rev. Joseph Ward, D.D., President of Yankton College, Dakota, is also a gr. son of Lorain Butler Ward, and son of Deacon Jabez Ward, M.D., of Perry, N. Y.

140. (p 310) Irei<sup>1</sup> Samuel<sup>3</sup> Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>, see p 872 for a long list of descendants presumed to be his.

145. Eli<sup>4</sup> Samuel<sup>3</sup> Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>. An Eli and wife joined the church in Northfield, Litchfield County, Conn., on profession, March 6, 1796. Rev. E. B. Starr says they seemed to have some connection with Allen Sperry, and his w. Abigail, E. B. and wife took letters to Warren, in the same county. He w b. Jan'y 13, 1748, and was, as I surmised, Eli, of Bethlehem. He m. Nov., 1770, Dorothy Potter. He died May 7, 1794, and his wife, Feb'y, 1824, in Bethlehem, Litchfield County, Conn. Eli was a soldier in the Revolution, and his descendants are proud that he there did his duty faithfully, and had there, as elsewhere, a pride in his integrity. He was a blacksmith (a business of high honor before the days of machinery) and lived and died in Bethlehem.

I feel almost complimented that so able a genealogist has had with the various Baldwins of that name an experience so similar to my own. I am, however, obliged to change largely the lines on pages 321 and 830, and following pages of my original volume, and with still chances for error, to give the following as the descendants of 109 Matthias. By tradition of his descendants, he is said to have died young in 1759 (40 years.) He m. Mary Ross, of Elizabethtown, N. J., b. 1726, who died about 1800. The Matthias who m. Sarah Dodd was Matthias<sup>5</sup> Israel<sup>4</sup> Joseph<sup>3</sup> Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>.

The children of this Matthias—

1. Sarah, about 1749; d. in 1810 unm.

No. 339 Isaac belonged to Matthias, who m. Sarah Dodd, and 341 Lucy, and 342 Lydia, as well. I cannot give 343 William a son Jonathan.

2. John, about 1751, d. 1804. He m. Elizabeth Thompson, and had the following children:

- (A) Mary, m. — Woodruff. She had ch., at least Mrs. Elizabeth Phramer, living 1883, in Lyons Farms, N. J., aged 85 or 86, and William Woodruff.

- (B) Phebe, m. Moses Woodruff, of Newark (no known relation to the other.) She left several ch., among whom were Thomas, Caleb, Hannah, and the wife of David W. Crane. (Inquire of Ward Woodruff and David W. Crane, of Newark.)

- (C) Elizabeth, m. Abbey; left two ch.: Phebe, d. in childhood, and Elizabeth, who d. a few years since, unm.

- (D) Peter, d. unm.; dissipated.

- (E) Fanny, d. unm.

3. Joanna, about 1753, and d. 1803-5, m. Stephen Morehouse, of near Hanover, N. J., and left two sons, Israel and Matthias. They all moved west.

4. Jonathan, about 1755, d. 1819, m. Sarah Anderson. Ch.:

Henry Baldwin Harrison<sup>7</sup> Anna<sup>8</sup> Harrison<sup>6</sup> Elizabeth (Baldwin<sup>5</sup>) Harrison, James Baldwin<sup>4</sup>, was born in New Haven, Sept. 11, 1821. He was assistant in Mr. Lovell's school in New Haven while student in Yale, but was nevertheless valedictorian, class of 1846. He studied law and commenced practice in that city where he still resides. In 1854 he was nominated by the Whigs to the State Senate and elected by a large majority. He drafted the personal liberty bill which really nullified in Connecticut the Fugitive Slave law. He became early identified with the Free Soil party until in 1855-6, he was among the few who organized the Republican party in his State, and in the spring was nominated by it for Lieutenant Governor. He would accept no office during the war, but steadily applied himself to his profession, in which his reputation is of the highest. In 1865 he became a leading member of the House of Conn., and attracted much attention by his able debate on the subject of erasing from the State Constitution the word "white." In 1866 his name was urged as candidate for Governor, but he positively withdrew in favor of Gen'l Hawley. In 1873 he served again efficiently in the House, and was made Chairman of the Committee on the Constitutional convention, reporting the bill for it.

The next year he was nominated for Governor, but his party was defeated, though he polled a large vote. In 1878 his name was much mentioned for the U. S. Senate.

In 1883 he again attended the House, and as Speaker, presided with strict impartiality. In 1885 he became Governor of the State of Connecticut, and at the close of his term of office in January, 1887, papers of both parties spoke of him with great respect, and the papers of New Haven with pride, as well.

Governor Harrison is of pure Connecticut Yankee English stock, running back, as far as known, in all lines of descent to the early settlement of the Colonies. Mr. Harrison married, June 3, 1856. Mary Elizabeth Osborne, b. in Fairfield, Conn., Oct. 11, 1833, daughter of Hon. Thomas B. Osborne, (formerly member of Congress from Conn.) and Elizabeth Dimon, his wife. Gov. Harrison has no children.

He is at present writing a member of the House of Representatives of the United States, and is United States Senator from the State of Virginia, to take his seat in March, 1886. He was one of the orators delivering an address at the dedication of the Washington monument, Feb'y 21, 1885, the other being Hon. Robert C. Winthrop. He has the highest reputation as an orator; is a brilliant lawyer, an able and accomplished writer, and withal, a very accurate law-writer — his book on “Negotiable Instruments,” being fast advanced to a classic among law books. He is described as socially a charming companion — generous, warm-hearted, a polished and elegant gentleman.

So difficult is it for a genealogist to be correct. I understand the facts to be that for ten years he was an eminent judge upon this bench, but that the Presiding Judge was, during at least a part of this time, Judge William H. Cabell, father-in-law of Judge William Daniel, Jr. To his character, ability and efficiency, the testimony is happily unanimous and ample. In the third line, on p. 364, read 1830 for 1839.

NOTE.

Martha (Baldwin) Butler, dau. of George Baldwin<sup>2</sup> John,<sup>1</sup> See page 1048, where I say she m. Isaiah Butler, and not Josiah, as in my first volume, p. 304. Since the printing of page 1048, I have received from Miss Sheldon the following extract, taken from a letter of Judge Eli F. Rodgers, of Branford:

"In reply to your inquiry as to the evidence that Josiah Butler and Isaiah Butler were the same, I would say that in the genealogical list of names of the Butler family, taken from the town records, the name Isaiah occurs eleven times—the name Josiah not once; while on the church records it is Josiah, and the name Isaiah does not appear. According to the town records, Isaiah Butler and Martha Baldwin were m. Dec. 29, 1725. According to the church records, Josiah Butler, son of Jonathan Butler, b. 1705, m. Martha Baldwin (he gives no date of birth or marriage here.) It appears from the Baldwin Genealogical Record that the Martha Baldwin, dau. of George and Deborah Baldwin, b. Jan'y 13, 1702, who m. Josiah (Isaiah) Butler, Dec. 29, 1725, was the only Martha Baldwin of about that age. The next Martha that I find is Martha, dau. of Israel and Dinah Butler Baldwin, b. Aug. 5, 1736, (p 312 former volume.) She m. Nathan Harrison, March 27, 1758, so that it appears certain that the Martha Baldwin, who, according to the town records, m. Isaiah Butler, and the Martha Baldwin, who, according to the church records, m. Josiah Butler, were identical. How it happened that the person who is called Isaiah in one place, is called Josiah in the other, it seems impossible to determine."

Miss Sheldon concludes the true name is Josiah, as in my first book. Only this seems quite certain, that the Isaiah of the one record, is the Josiah of the other. She suggests that he was generally called "Siah," and the town clerk mistook.

Mr. Rodgers sends, also, the record of Jonathan and Lydia Butler, showing Jonathan, b. 1696, m. Elizabeth Baldwin, (sister of Martha), Dinah, 1699, m. 1718, Israel Baldwin (brother of Martha, and on page 312) and Josiah, b. 1705, m. Martha Baldwin.

As an additional example from the same records, but much earlier, I am tempted to add from my "Candee and Allied Families," p. 174, among the ch. of John Norton, "a son, b. Oct. 14, 1657, and d. Jan'y 18, 1657." I said "I read it once John, as did several others, and the Washington pamphlet has it so. The Guilford manuscripts have it John, corrected in pencil to Felix. The name occurs five times; twice, to this son born and died. The same name occurs as born Aug. 3, 1662, to Samuel Plum, and Mr. Savage gives that Josiah. It occurs as born April 20, 1652, to Robert Abat (Abbot), and Mr. Savage calls it Joseph. It occurs in the distribution of Abbot's estate, in Branford records, next following John, while Savage says Joseph is omitted. I cannot tell what the name is, but feel certain it is neither John or Felix."

The name read to me "Joship," and I believe it an error for Joseph. Since the Candee was printed, Hon. L. M. Boltwood visited Branford expressly to examine this name, and feels certain it is "Joship," intended for Joseph.

AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

1.(p 406) Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> son of Richard, ante-p 23 and p 991. From the Judd MSS. I learn that he owned land in Fairfield, 6 March, 1649; that 13 Jan'y, 1653, he had there a house and lot and 5 parcels made by virtue of marriage with Joan Westcoat.

First line of p. 7, read 1658, not 1650.

The Judd papers say that in 1677, 8 Samuel had of his father-in-law, Thomas Skidmore, two pieces of land.

This, apparently, meant step-father (a common use of father-in-law at that time), and looks as if the Skidmore marriage came off after all.

6. Sarah,<sup>2</sup> 1650, m. Joseph Barlow.

7. Deborah,<sup>2</sup> b. 1652, m. William Reed, who, I learn by Rev. Samuel Orcutt was the father, by her, of Rev. John Reed, called Col. Reed, in Orcutt's valuable History of New Milford, and the first settler of Reading, Conn. William and Deborah had 1 Sarah, who, Mr. Orcutt thinks, m. Zachariah Ferris, of New Milford. 2 Abigail, March 1, 1673. 3 John, b. Jan'y 29, 1679, graduated at Harvard College, etc.

12. Daniel<sup>3</sup> Daniel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel,<sup>1</sup> was b. 1668, and not 1868.

13. Elizabeth, b. 1670, m. Caleb Galpin, and I have quite an account of the descendants in a single line from Edwin Hubbard, Esq., of Chicago.†

13. Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> Daniel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>, b.— in Milford, m. Feb'y 24, 1707, Caleb Galpin, s. Samuel, (b. Jan'y 17, 1650, of Stratford, Conn.) and Elizabeth Peat Galpin. Samuel Galpin was son of Philip and Elizabeth Smith Galpin, of New Haven, and Elizabeth Peat was dau. of John and Sarah Peat, of Stratford, where he d. 1678, having been born in 1597. She had a son.

Amos,<sup>4</sup> b. Dec., 1723, d. Oct. 10, 1815, at Middletown. He m. Nov. 5, 1745, Anna Patterson, dau. Edward, of Dungannon, County Tyrone, Ireland. She died Jan'y 20, 1803, and was bor in 1724. They had a son, Thomas Galpin, born Feb'y 6, 1757, who d. Nov. 17, 1802. He lived in Berlin. T. G. m. April 3, 1783, Ruth Goodrich, born March 31, 1762, and died July 24, 1813. Ruth Goodrich was dau. Elisha and Sybil (Mix) Goodrich, of Farmington. E. G. b. March 12, 1736, d. Nov. 27, 1776; S. M., b. April 5, 1738, d. May 8, 1776, m. June 17, 1758. E. G., b. 1736, was son of E. G., b. Sept. 22, 1712, and of Farmington, Conn., by wife Rebecca Seymour. They were m. Nov. 21, 1734. Sybil Mix was dau. of Josiah, b. Nov. 20, 1707, and Sybil (Holt) Mix, b. March 16, 1710, and m. Aug. 5, 1730. They were residents of Wallingford, and she d. Aug. 12, 1768.

Achsah Beckly was b. 1713, dau. John and Mary (Woodruff) Beckly. John Beckly was b. 1695, and son of Benjamin and Rebecca (an Indian girl, dau. of Taramungut, an Indian chief), Beckly. Mary Woodruff was b. Jan'y 31, 1700, and dau. John and Elizabeth (Thompson) Woodruff. John was born April 14, 1662, according to Mr. Hubbard, but according to Timlow's History of Southington, in 1669, and was No. 9, on page 52.

Samuel Galpin, above, b. 1720, is the one on page 814 whose dau. Beulah m. Ephraim Merriam.

20. (p 410) Hannah(Baldwin)Sanford<sup>3</sup> Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel.<sup>1</sup> Her tombstone, still remaining in Milford Cemetery, says she d. Jan'y 10, 1726, aged 51 years.

NOTE.—(p 413) Second line, read Mr. Downs for Dennis.

Third line, for Artinisia, read Artimisia.

Fourth line, for Abiah, read Abiah.

30. (p 414) Timothy<sup>3</sup> Samuel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>, m. Sept. and not Dec.

77. (p 419) Michael<sup>4</sup> Timothy<sup>3</sup> Samuel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel.<sup>1</sup> The epitaph of this sire of an eminent family is of interest, and is to be found in New Haven.

“Here lie interred
the Remains of

MR. MICHAEL BALDWIN, who died April 24th, 1787,
in the 69th year of his age.”

“In him a strong sense of filial duty prevailed over an early ambition, and confined to a silent and retired life of husbandry. talents and integrity rarely surpassed in the more public walks of men. A natural liberality of sentiment, early religious impressions, an uncommon faith matured by much reflection, formed his life to honesty and usefulness, and secured to himself an unusual cheerfulness and serenity to the close of an advanced age.”

In the same lot is the grave of a son not named in my former book.

"Michael, son of Mr. Michael and Mrs. Theodora Baldwin, who die September 2, 1776, aged 2 years. Could prayers or tears, or parents' fondest love the King of Terrors to compassion move?"

174. Theodora, (dau. of Michael) d. 1811, unmarried.

176. (p 419) Clarissa<sup>5</sup> Michael<sup>4</sup> Timothy<sup>3</sup> Samuel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> m. Col. George Bomford, U. S. A., Colonel 8th Infantry, as his second wife. She had 1 Irving; 2 Ruth, who m. Capt. Paine, U. S. A., and had a dau. Clara B., who m. Mr. Trowbridge; and 3 Henry, died young. His children by his first wife were James, U. S. A., father of Lillie, who m. John W. French; George and Louisa.

177. Sarah, (dau. of Michael) b. 1787. I am able, through the kindness of Col. Pennington, to give a further account of her descendants. She m. Edmund French, son of Edmund, who came from Yarmouth, England, about 1730 or 1740, settled in New Haven, and m. Hannah Leake+

177. (p 421) Sarah<sup>5</sup> Michael<sup>4</sup> Timothy<sup>3</sup> Samuel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>, 1787 m. Edmund French, who died in 1818, in New Orleans, of yellow fever. Children—

1769, in the 78th year of his age. He shall enter into peace. They shall rest in their bed each one walking in uprightness."

128. Mary Baldwin<sup>5</sup> John<sup>4</sup> Daniel,<sup>3</sup> m. Daniel Terrell, of New Milford. No doubt he was b. there Jan'y 11, 1726; son Nathan, s. John, of Milford, but I know no more of him.

88. (p 424) Samuel<sup>4</sup> Nathaniel<sup>3</sup> Samuel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>, d. Sept., and not April.

218. Timothy, d. 1748, and not 1768.

The last name on the page should be Eliza L., and not Eliza D.

119. (p 426) William<sup>5</sup> Moses<sup>4</sup> John<sup>3</sup> John<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>, adm. on his estate was granted at Northampton, Mass., Nov. 10, 1806, to John. He had lands in Munson and Palmer. He is called of Palmer.

252. William King. He was managing editor of the Eric Despatch. In April, 1882, he takes the editorship of the Evening Observer, of the same place. His fine traits of character, experience and practical judgment, are highly praised by the Cleveland Leader, of April 16, 1882.

268. Moses, is Moses 122, and should have been in small pica.

126. Jabez<sup>5</sup> Nathan<sup>4</sup> Daniel<sup>3</sup> Daniel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup> From Newtown Cemetery, I offer—

"Safely interred here lies the remains of Mrs. Mary, the amiable consort of Mr. Jabez Baldwin, who made her exit January ye 31, A.D., 1770, in the 36th year of her age, leaving behind her five children.

"When a fond mother's care
Hath nursed her babes to manly size,
She must with usury pay the grave."

175 (p 431) Henry<sup>5</sup> Michael<sup>4</sup> Timothy<sup>3</sup>. The following sketch is from a member of the family :

• Henry Baldwin, son of Michael Baldwin, of Guilford, Conn., by his second wife, Theodora Wolcott, was born in New Haven, Conn., Jan'y 14, 1780. He graduated at Yale in 1797. He was admitted to the bar, and practiced law in Pennsylvania. Tradition says that in 1811 he was offered 1,100 acres of the present site of Buffalo, N. Y., for $1,100, but declined to purchase. He settled in Pittsburgh, Pa. By his first wife, Marana Norton, he had one son, Henry Baldwin, who also became a lawyer and left a large family. The subject of this sketch afterwards married Sally Ellicott, a daughter of Andrew Ellicott, Surveyor General of the United States. During the latter part of his life he resided in Meadville, Pa. He represented Pennsylvania in the 15th, 16th and 17th Congresses, serving from 1817 to 1822, when he resigned. He took a prominent part in the tariff legislation of that day and the adoption of the Missouri compromise, being chairman of the committee of the whole House during the debates on the last named measure.

He was largely instrumental in securing the Pennsylvania vote for Andrew Jackson in the convention by which he was nominated for President. Jackson's intention was to make him Secretary of the Treasury, but instead he was appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, in 1830, serving until his death, April 21, 1844. He was attacked with apoplexy while holding court in Philadelphia, and never recovered.

He had a high reputation as an able and upright jurist, and few, if any, of his decisions were reversed by an appellate tribunal.

Judge Baldwin was noted for his kind-heartedness and love of children, one of his habits being to carry his pockets full of toys and sweetmeats which he would give to children on the street.

He was an intimate friend of Robt. Fulton, the navigator, some of whose early experiments in steamboat navigation were tried on Rock Creek, in the District of Columbia, near Kalarama, the country seat in succession of Joel Barlow, Judge Baldwin and Colonel Bomford.

Judge Baldwin had numerous brothers and sisters who occupied prominent political, professional and social positions. His half-brother, Abraham Baldwin, was chaplain in the Revolutionary War; afterwards practiced law in Georgia; was a member of the State Legislature in 1774; a Delegate to the Continental Congress from 1785 to 1788; a member of the Constitutional Convention; one of the signers of the Constitution of the United States; represented Georgia in the 1st, 2d, 3rd, 4th and 5th Congresses; was elected U. S. Senator in 1789; President pro tem. of the Senate in 1801 and 1802, and died at Washington in 1807.

Another half-brother, Dudley Baldwin, graduated at Yale, practiced law in Greenfield Hill, Conn., and died early.

Judge Baldwin's half-sister, Ruth, married the famous Joel Barlow, a graduate of Yale, a chaplain in the Revolutionary War, a lawyer, a writer and poet of reputation, and a diplomatist. He died in Poland, in 1812, while Minister to France, while following Napoleon in his Russian campaign.

Judge Baldwin's brother, William, lived in New Haven, Conn., of which port he was at one time Collector. He left a large family.

Another brother, Michael Baldwin, graduated at Yale, practiced law in Ohio, was conspicuous for his ability, and noted for his eccentricity. He was a member of the convention which formed the first constitution of Ohio, and Speaker of its first House of Representatives. He died early unmarried.

Judge Baldwin's sister, Clarissa, married Colonel George Bomford, of Washington, D. C., chief of ordnance, whose experiments led to the introduction of the columbiad, the modern long-range cannon.

Another sister, Sally, was the mother of Edmund French, a graduate of West Point and an officer of the Army, and an engineer of ability under whose supervision the Hudson River Railroad was built.

Another son, Rev. Jno. W. French, was a prominent divine of the Episcopal Church, and was appointed chaplain to West Point by Jefferson Davis, and died in that position.

Judge Baldwin also took much interest in domestic manufactures, and aided materially in developing the iron manufactures of Pennsylvania."

569. (443) Charles R.<sup>7</sup> Clark<sup>6</sup> Daniel<sup>5</sup> James<sup>4</sup> Daniel<sup>3</sup> Daniel<sup>2</sup> Nathaniel<sup>1</sup>. In a suit brought by John S. Lewis, et al., to set aside a deed made by his 2d wife, the Supreme Court, of Ohio<sup>6</sup> Dec. Term, 1844 (11 Ohio Rep. 352) found them to be an affectionate couple, that she reposed entire confidence in him as her husband, friend and spiritual guide; that he did not appear to be unworthy of the trust. The deed was held good, and it is seldom that a man's character is thus carried to posterity by a judicial finding. His third wife, Ann E. (Tavener) survives as his widow, June, 1885, in Parkersburg, West Virginia.

710. Henry<sup>7</sup> Henry<sup>6</sup> Henry<sup>5</sup>, b. July 11, 1833, in Franklin, Tennessee. He entered Cumberland College, when fourteen. In 1853 he became a law student in New York. In 1856 he went to Washington and for several years had charge of the office of Hon. P. H. Watson. During the first year of the war he rendered important service to Mr. Watson, then in the War Department. In 1862 he removed to Philadelphia, and for the next twenty years took a leading part in patent litigation. This notice is taken from the proceedings of the American Bar Association, for 1885, and a fine analysis of his character is there republished from the proceedings in the U. S. Circuit Court room at Philadelphia on the occasion of his death.

The tribute was a feeling and appreciative one, and it is said the more due because Mr. Baldwin did not seek a popular reputation, and was quite indifferent to fame. He was a quiet, faithful, laborious worker in his difficult department. The arena was restricted and the audience limited, the victory won by pure argument. Mr. Baldwin was reflective, acute and penetrating. "It was a pleasure to hear him analyze into its elements some complicated process or device, and then, if need be, reconstruct it," as if he saw the end from the beginning and the beginning from the end. The capacity for a patient continuance of connected thought was possessed in a high degree by him. His ability was enforced by dignity of person and courtesy of manner, and he was deservedly distinguished.

He died in Philadelphia, Jan'y 20, 1885. He m. Kate Irving Dayton, dau. of the late Hon. Aaron O. Dayton. He left ch.

"We have been deceived too often," said Gen'l Hallock, "and I regret I can't grant it." Judge B. then went to Stanton, and was very briefly disposed of with the same result. Finally he obtained an interview with Mr. Lincoln, and stated his case. "Have you applied to Gen'l Hallock?" inquired the President. "Yes, and met with a flat refusal," said Judge B. "Then you must see Stanton," continued the President. "I have, and met with the same result," was the reply. "Well, then," said Mr. Lincoln, with a smile, "I can do nothing, for you must know that I have very little influence with the administration!"

The notice of this very prominent gentleman in my first book was quite scanty. Through that book I became quite well acquainted with him, and learned to respect very highly his ability as a financier, a writer, and his kindly, tender nature. His sketches of others were remarkably terse and epigramatic, and his interest in the history of the family, and even in the name, was great. I have made no pleasant acquaintance through my book, and felt a deep regret at his decease, which took place 7 October, 1886.

His wife had deceased some time before, and ever since her death his own health had been precarious.

He was one of the Trustees and Chairman of the Finance Committee of the McDonogh Educational Fund and Institute, having charge of over $1,000,000.

His kindly nature, strong sense, great ability and high integrity, deserved and received the highest recognition from his fellow-citizens. There follows a sketch from the History of Baltimore, published in 1881.

Robert Turner Baldwin is a native of Campbell County, Virginia, where he was born June 14, 1819, and is the son of Philemon P. and Elizabeth Jane Baldwin. His mother was a Miss Turner, and it was at the suggestion and through the influence of his cousin, Zephania Turner, of Rappahannock County, Virginia, that he came to Baltimore, in September, 1835. His business career began in the counting-house of Hough, Turner & Co., composed of Messrs. Samuel and Robert Hough, and Zephania Turner, Jr., and it was here that he laid the foundation of a business knowledge and experience which have widened and grown with every succeeding year. From that period until the present, Mr. Baldwin has been constantly engaged in active business pursuits, for a part of the time as partner in the firm of Baldwin & Myer, and since the dissolution of that house, in 1866, as President of the National Mechanics' Bank, and in a variety of capacities requiring the possession of special ability and high integrity. In 1869 he was elected one of the Commissioners of Finance for the city of Baltimore, and, with the exception of a brief period of voluntary retirement, has been a member of that responsible commission ever since, and still continues to act in that capacity.

His services as Commissioner of Finance have been accorded many marks of public approbation, and the City Council has three times expressed its sense of their value by formal resolution of a highly complimentary character.

Mr. Baldwin was also prominently connected with the recent re-organization of the Virginia Midland Railroad, being associated with Messrs. J. Wilcox Brown and Robert Garrett, in the purchase of that road for the creditors, and, with these gentlemen was "cordially tendered the thanks of the stockholders" for "the exceedingly able and efficient manner" in which he had discharged "the onerous duties which devolved" upon him.

As director, trustee and executor, Mr. Baldwin has been called to various positions of trust and responsibility and has held confidential relations towards important corporations and interests which he has served with unvarying ability and integrity. His life has been one of constant business activity and unceasing labor, but its record is higher than that of mere business drudgery, and is filled with practical results as useful to the community as they are honorable to himself.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY BALTIMORE CITY COUNCIL, 25 APRIL, 1877.

“WHEREAS, It has been authoritatively announced that the personal considerations which led to the resignation of Mr. Baldwin of the position of Finance Commissioner are so seriously entertained by him as to render the general expression of a desire that he might be induced to withdraw that resignation, entirely unavailing; and,

WHEREAS, It is eminently due to the long, faithful and disinterested services which that able and distinguished citizen has rendered the municipal government of Baltimore, that a proper memorial of them should be placed among the official records of the city; therefore, be it

Resolved, By both Branches of the City Council of Baltimore, that in the discharge of the duties of Finance Commissioner, Mr. Robert T. Baldwin has displayed signal ability, integrity, and decision of character, the combination of which justly entitle him to be ranked among the leading financial and business men of our county; and be it further

Resolved, That in the careful guardianship of the public credit and constant apprehension of the real interest of Baltimore, Mr. Baldwin has, during the past seven years of his official life, done as much to command the respect and entitle him to the lasting gratitude of his fellow-citizens, as any man among them, and that it is the subject of deep and universal regret that his connection with the city government is now about to be severed.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed upon the journal of each Branch, and that the Clerk of this Branch (Second) be directed to have a copy neatly engrossed and present the same to Mr. Baldwin.”

JOSEPH OF MILFORD AND HADLEY,
AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

1. Joseph, son of Richard, of Cholesbury Bucks (ante-pages 23. 479 and 991), not twenty-one years of age in December, 1630, was one of the first settlers of Milford, Conn., in 1639, and his name appears that year among the free planters. He had a prolific line of descendants, and nearly three thousand are given in my former volume. Many are added here. Joseph died in Hadley, Mass., Nov. 2, 1684. His first wife, Hannah, joined the church in Milford, in June, 1644, when their first four children were baptized.

He married second, Isabel Northam, widow of James, and before that, of John Catlin.

Hon. Geo. Sheldon, of Deerfield, Mass., says that Isabel Northam was Isabella, probably Ward, and sister of Lawrence Ward, of New Haven, Branford and Newark, where he died, 1676. She m. 1st John Catlin, 2nd James Northam, of Wethersfield, Hartford and Hadley, and 3rd Joseph Baldwin. There is some evidence that she had more than one child by her first husband, John Catlin, of Wethersfield, but only John is known.

Joseph's 2nd wife died Dec. 8, 1676, and he m. 3rd Elizabeth Hitchcock, widow of William Warriner, of Springfield. She died April 25, 1696. Joseph left his property in Milford to his eldest three sons, to whom he had "formerly given it." He had ch.

2. Joseph, born probably about 1640, settled in Hadley, and left numerous descendants in Mass., and elsewhere. (See pages 482-613.)

3. (p 482) Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, b. about 1642, in Milford. He m., as appears by a deed in Guilford, Conn., Hannah Sargeant, dau. of John, of Branford. At the great emigration from Branford to Newark, N. J., went the Sargeants, where Benjamin and his wife also appear in 1668. He was a weaver, as was his father and brother Joseph.

His half-bushel was so much respected that it was made the standard, in Newark. His wife died before 1721, and his will is dated 1726. His homestead in Newark was bounded east by Washington street, west by High street, and extended from the present line of New street to the Canal—about six acres. He had children, of whom it appears by his will that Benjamin was the youngest, but I learn the fact too late to change the order here given.

It is extremely difficult to find out much about this Benjamin, although I have been heartily assisted by the veteran and able Bethuel L. Dodd, M.D., of Orange, (descended of this line) as well as by F. A. R. Baldwin, Esq., of Allentown, Penn., and Col. Alfred Munn.

He apparently had children—at least at very uncertain dates.

 AT WATSESON, BLOOMFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

"This indenture made this twenty-eighth day of March, in the fifth year of the reign of our sovereign Lord George the Second by the Grace of God of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, etc. Anno Dom: one thousand, seven hundred and thirty-two, between Joseph Baldwin, of Newark, in the County of Essex, and eastern division of New Jersey, yeoman of the one part, and Capt'n John Morris and Lieut. Daniel Dod, both of the same Town, County and division aforesaid, yeomen on the part and behalf of the children of Benjamin Baldwin, Junior, late of the same place, deceased, on the other part.

Witnesseth, that whereas, Benjamin Baldwin, Senior, late of Newark, aforesaid, weaver deceased, in and by his last will and testament made and bearing date the seventeenth day of May, Anno Dom., one thousand, seven hundred and twenty-six, did devise and bequeath the greatest part of his lands and meadows unto his two sons, viz: the above said Joseph Baldwin and Benjamin Baldwin, to be equally divided between them, their heirs, executors and administrators in severalty; and whereas, the said Benjamin Baldwin, Junior, some short time after being taken sick before the said division could be made, and being willing his wife and children after his decease should possess and enjoy their equal part and share of the land given as aforesaid, in and by the before recited last will and testament, and he, the said Benjamin Baldwin, Junior, in and at the time of his sickness, having the use of his natural reason, in presence of the evidences hereafter named, viz: Mr. James Notman, the widow Sarah Young, Lydia Peck, wife of Joseph Peck, and Hannah Tompkins, being all of lawful age, did in the presence of them desire and make choice of the above said John Morris and Daniel Dod to represent him and his wife and children for the division of the said lands between him or his children and his brother Joseph Baldwin, above said, if it should please God to remove him by death by that sickness, which accordingly happened. Pursuant to the request and desire of the deceased, now to the end a perpetual portion and division shall be had and made between the said parties of, in and to, the lands and premises aforesaid: it is covenanted, concluded and agreed by and between the parties to these presents in manner and form following, and first that the said Joseph Baldwin, his heirs and assigns shall from henceforth have, hold, and peacefully enjoy in severalty to him and his heirs forever to his and their own proper use and behoof of one moiety or half part of the said lands as herein and hereafter described and sett forth; and first the said Joseph Baldwin shall have, hold and enjoy all that one tract of land situate, lying and being at a place commonly called and known by the name of Wattesson, on which he now dwells as the same is and stands butted and bounded in a certain survey and patten given and granted by Philip Carteret, Esq., then Governor of the Province of New Jersey, bearing date the twenty-sixth day of March, Anno Dom., one thousand, six hundred and seventy, (excepting a small part containing by estimation about five acres separated and divided from the said plantation by a highway running through the same at the west end thereof by the Second River. Also the said Joseph Baldwin to have the equal half part of the Pasture lying on the hill on the west side of Newark, aforesaid, to the middle part of said Lott next adjacent to that part of the said Lott given in and by the before recited last will and testament, unto the widow Susannah Baldwin for her to possess and enjoy during her natural life. Also the said Joseph Baldwin to have ten acres of meadow out of a Tract lying between the Great Swamp in the Neck and a Barr that leads on to the Great Island. The said ten acres to be at the easterly end, next to the said Barr, the breadth of the said Lott, the butts and bounds of the said tracts of land and meadow may more fully and at large appear in and by the before recited Patent; the severall tracts of land and meadow above mentioned and described, to be to him, the said Joseph Baldwin, his heirs and assigns, as his share and Dividend of the lands given and devised in and by the before recited last will and testament, as the one equal moitie or half part thereof (excepting any part remain not in and by these presents expressed and mentioned, or any right of land that may hereafter appear to belong to them. And the heirs of him, the said Benjamin Baldwin, shall have, possess and enjoy in severalty and to their heirs and assigns as their moitie or half part of the premises, the severall tracts of land and meadow hereinafter mentioned, viz: A tract of land lying on the west side of ye third River, near to the land of John Ball, formerly belonging to Matthew Canfield, beginning at the said Matthew Canfield's line, thence running along the said River, in breadth twenty-six chains, and thence west, back from the River, in length forty chains. Bounded south by Matthew Canfield, east by the third River, north by unsurveyed land, west by the Widow Crane and unsurveyed land. Also another small piece on ye east side of second River, on ye west side of the highway, estimated about five acres, be the same more or less, the same above excepted out of Joseph his Plantation. Also the one equal moitie or half of the Pasture on the Hill, excepting that now in the tenure and occupation of ye Widow Susannah Baldwin, the said half to be at ye upper, or northwest end of the said Lott. Also a small tract of land in the Great Neck at ye head of a cove commonly called and known by the name of Swann's Cove; in length ten chains, and in breadth nine Rods, Bounded on the south by the highway, on the north by Hauns Albers, on the west by Obediah Bruen, on the east by Samuel Rose, as may appear by the before recited Patent. Also a piece of swamp land lying in the said neck at the Great Swamp, estimated four acres; in breadth five, and in length twelve chains bounded on the north by Mr. Bruen, on the east by Thomas Richards, on the south partly by his own meadow and partly by Sannel Dodd, and on the west by land unsurveyed, or swamps. Also a piece of meadow at beeffe point estimated two acres, bounded on the west by John Baldwin, Junior, on the north by the River, east by Mr. Abraham Pierson, and on the south by the Bogggs. Also a piece of meadow Laying by Maple Island Creek, Bounded on the west by Thomas Richards, on the east by the Widow Davison, South and North by the common Meadow. Also three acres of Meadow out of that lott above mentioned to Joseph, laying between the Great Swamp and the Barr that leads on to the Great Island. The said three acres to be at the north westerly end thereof, Bounded north westerly upon his other swamp land, and south easterly with the above said Meadow given to Joseph in this division. All theseverall tracts of land and Meadow above mentioned and described to be to them, the heirs of him, the said Benjamin Baldwin, as his and their share and dividend of the land given and devised in and by the before Recited Last will and testament, as the one equal moitie or half part thereof (excepting any part Remain that is not in and by these presents expressed or mentioned or any right of land that may hereafter appear to belong to them. In witness whereof we have herennto jointly sett our hands and Seals the day and year first above written.

23. Joseph<sup>3</sup> Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>. Joseph was living in 1732 to join in the deed of partition with the heirs of Benjamin. It appears from the Roberts' papers, so-called, left by Mr. S. H. Congar, of Newark, that his widow, Rebecca, died June 17, 1748, ae 61.

Dr. Dodd informs me that he left the two ch. named and perhaps others. This line has been traced with labor and amid great uncertainties, but successfully.

90. (495) David<sup>4</sup> Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, b. about 1715. In 1800 lived with one of his daughters and her two children, who are still living in 1881. David was a slim old man, much bent, blue-eyed, active and taciturn, smoked his pipe much, using tobacco of his own raising. His wife was "stoutish, but short; complexion very fair, soft and smooth; sweet and kindly in disposition." During the winter, the old man of 85 and his grand-son of 6, went to the woods, a mile away, with a team and brought home a load of wood. This was upon a crooked stream running through the northern part of Bloomfield, and emptying into the Passaic. David and his sons owned at least three mill-sites on it, running a bark-mill, a paper-mill and a fulling-mill. At the formation of the Presbyterian church, in 1798, David, his wife, eight children, (all save Isaac, then deceased, and Jonathan) also the wives of his sons, were members.

His son Simeon was then elected elder: son Ichabod, in 1812. In 1822 his grand-son, Z. B. Dodd, who is still elder in 1882. In 1848, his gr. gr. son, Warren S. Baldwin. The family has been continuously represented in the office.

whom he freed by his will. He was considered wealthy, was a prominent public man, one of the first elders in the church, and prominent in erecting the handsome sand-stone church still standing and still the church of the village. Many desired wood, for economy, but he declined to contribute to a wood, and he turned the scale. One of his two mill-sites is now owned and run as a woolen mill, by Thomas Oakes, a lineal descendant through his mother, of David, twin to Simeon. Simeon was a fuller. He m. 155. (p 506) Gamaliel<sup>4</sup> Samuel<sup>3</sup> David<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>. The Giddings' Genealogy, (History of New Milford, Conn.) says Thomas Herrick, an Englishman, in 1723, embarked for America with a wife and two daughters. His wife died on the passage, and he came to Derby, Conn.; that one of them was adopted by Benoni Stebbins, of New Milford. The records of that town say Rebecca Herrick was adopted by Benoni Stebbins. It is said that about 1778 she inherited from her father Herrick. Gamaliel Baldwin died the day his dau. was to have married Jonathan Giddings, and his epitaph is:

" Sacred
 to ye memory of Mr.
 Gamaliel Baldwin;
 Died Dec'r ye 25th, 1765,

829. (p. 526) 2 Mary is Mary G., b. Sept. 19, 1849, m. Jan'y 11, 1866, Charles F. Smith, a seed grower in Orange, (there in 1882.) They have children, Susie F. and Minnie J.

357. Jonathan had no wife but Submit Lord, who survived him.

838. (p. 527) Densy, m. John Dibble; is said by Rev. C. C. Baldwin, to have had five children, the names of four of which he gives quite different from my previous information. He says Sylvester, Harvey, a son, Calista m. Amos Luce, of Kingsville, there in 1882, and Timothy.

Rev. Dr. Bushnell says there was a Rev. John, Methodist clergyman near Kingsville.

365. Seth, Abiel<sup>4</sup> Ezra<sup>3</sup> Jonathan<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, m. March, 1796, Rhoda Hall, b. Feb'y 8, 1779, dau. Timothy and Dorothy (Hull) Hall, of Durham, Conn. The purpose of this mention is to correct the statement that she was Rhoda Hull, on p. 532, an error in which I followed the town History of Durham, p. 326, the entry there of her birth certified to as correct by the town clerk. Such are the perils of genealogy.

His oldest dau.:

893. Sophia, b. Sept. 18, 1796 (or Oct., according to MSS.'sent me,) died at Sandwich, Illinois, not Sandwich Islands, as might be inferred from the residence there of her brother Dwight, the eminent missionary.

371. Stephen<sup>5</sup> Ebenezer<sup>4</sup> Ezra<sup>3</sup>, born July 6, 1759, probably in East Granville, Mass. He removed June, 1803, arriving Oct., 1803, being 3rd family in the township to Nelson, Portage County, Ohio. He was m. 8 Dec., 1781, but I am not informed to whom. He d. May 12, 1872. He was a remarkable tenor singer, the first leader of the choir and teacher of the first singing school in Nelson.

Hannah, June 9, 1783, m. Thomas Kennedy; moved about 1835 or 6 to Lima, Allen County, Ohio, and had a family of eight ch. All dead but a dau. Martha Cunningham, a prominent lady of Lima, whose husband is dead. He was a prominent citizen, a long time representative there. Hannah had ten ch., all living but one. She taught the first school in Nelson.

905. Sanford, Oct. 17, 1784+

Orrindates, b. June 11, 1786, generally called Orrin, was a sailor on the lakes; taken prisoner in the War of 1812, and exchanged, returning to Nelson. He shortly after settled in Wheeling, where he was a baker and had a family of thirteen ch., most all girls, and one named Charlotte, and most living in the vicinity of Wheeling.

Calista.

Ebenezer, March 24, 1791, d. June 26, 1835, unm.

Lois, Jan'y 27, 1797, d. Aug. 26, 1880. She had at her death, lived more years in Portage County than any other person in it.

Samuel, b. in Granville, Mass., Jan'y 12, 1761, m. April 10, 1785, Lucy Leonard, b. at Springfield, (another says Sheffield) Mass., March 19, 1763, and d. Jan'y 29, 1843. Samuel d. at the house of his son Samuel in Schenectady, N. Y., July 4, 1849. His last words on earth were, "I have not strength to tell the world my joy." He was buried in the grave-yard on the farm he once owned in Charlton, N. Y. He had previously given his son this charge: "Samuel, my son, bury me not here, but I will lie by your mother in the place I have provided for us." Samuel settled in Charlton, in 1786.

1. Leonard, b. in Granville, Dec. 22, 1785+

ANCIENT HOUSE, MILFORD, CONN.

In the Home World, vol. 2, edited and published by Rev. E. C. Baldwin, of New Haven, is an interesting account of this house:

On its site George Clark, Sr., built his house, in 1639. It was within the palisades planted around the whole settlement to defend it.

A few years after, this "brave, venturesome and God-fearing man" was the first to dwell outside the defences. For this pioneer act he received a liberal gift of land in his family, Rev. Abraham Pierson, first President of Yale College, married, as did also Jonathan Law, father of Governor Jonathan Law.

Governor Law was father of Jahleel, ante p. 110, who m. Ann<sup>4</sup> Thomas<sup>3</sup> Barnabas<sup>2</sup> Richard Baldwin.<sup>1</sup>

"About 1700 the place belonged to Mr. Edward Allen, an extensive ship-builder and importer, (father of Col. Edward Allen, who m. the widow of Phinehas<sup>4</sup> Phinehas<sup>3</sup> Richard<sup>2</sup> John Baldwin,<sup>1</sup> ante p. 334.) He reared upon it the new, stately and elegant house which is still standing, as shown in the picture." It is on the south side of the N. Y. & N. H. R. R., not far west of the depot. The interior was finished with great care in the style of that early day. "Over the hall entered from the front door and up which the stairs ascend, is a trap door opening into the large garret under the roof. Arrangements existed for hoisting articles over the front entrance, thus up into the garret." At the time Rev. George Whitfield made a 2d tour through Conn., (probably 1744) the meeting houses were closed against him. He frequently preached from the steps of churches or from private dwellings. The steps of this house was his pulpit, from which he addressed a multitude gathered in and about the yard.

Up to this time only one church had existed, but immediately began the organization of what is now called Plymouth Church. Elder George Clark, (ante p 87) grandson of the first George, was a leader in this movement, and may have owned the place at the time. Our author proceeds:

"Capt. Samuel Stowe" (ante p. 333, son of Freelove (Baldwin<sup>4</sup>) Stowe Phineas<sup>3</sup> Richard<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>) "purchased it in 1801, living in it several years. He, in 1814, sold it to Elnathan Baldwin, whose eleven children were born and raised in it." (Elnathan<sup>5</sup> Elnathan<sup>4</sup> Ezra<sup>3</sup> Jonathan<sup>2</sup> Joseph Baldwin,<sup>1</sup> ante page 535.) Since his death it has been sold to Mr. Beardsley, its present owner, (I suppose Mr. Charles Beardsley, ante p 535, m. Sarah Baldwin<sup>6</sup> dau. of Elnathan<sup>5</sup>.)

"Scarcely any changes have been made in its exterior or interior during the about 175 years it has stood. Generation after generation of people have come and gone, been born, married and died in it; new homes erected all around it; the valley before it filled and bridged, and a multitude of heavily laden cars roar past it each day, yet there it stands a noble relic of the past. What a history! How many associations, joyous, solemn and sad cluster around it!"

The children of Elnathan were—

611. Caleb Dodd<sup>6</sup> Ichabod<sup>5</sup> David<sup>4</sup> Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, was born at Bloomfield, Essex County, N. J., June 15, 1795. He was educated at the village academy, established through a few public spirited men, of whom his father was one. He was prepared for an advanced class in Princeton College, with the intention of entering the ministry, when his delicate health, owing to constitutional weakness, made it apparent that he could not endure the labors and confinement of a professional life. He therefore relinquished his studies, and, in 1817, accompanied some relatives who were about migrating westward, taking charge of one of the teams, and crossing the Alleghanies to the headwaters of the Ohio, near Pittsburgh. Returning home, he went with his cousin, Ira Dodd, to Pennsylvania, in 1819, and entering the employ of the Schuylkill Navigation Co., then building its canal, he spent five years at Reading, in a position of responsibility, and there acquired a practical business knowledge of great service to him afterwards. The building of the Morris Canal across N. J., the line passing through his native county, utilized his experience, and, in partnership with Ira Dodd, he contracted for the construction of the stone-work, locks, etc., upon its eastern section. Included in this was the stone aqueduct spanning the Passaic River, at Little Falls. The firm of Dodd & Baldwin were for several years successful contractors of public improvements, and among their works were a large viaduct at Canton, Mass., on the line of the Boston & Providence R. R., and the first built portion of Morris & Essex R. R. from Newark westward to Summit, N. J. Of the latter railroad he was the first superintendent and a life-long stockholder. The panic of '37 found him with a large amount of the stock and securities of this road, taken in payment on his contract, and in common with many other enterprising business men, he suffered severe financial loss. This made him conservative, and, with a growing family calling for closer attention on his part, led him to confine his activities to the care of a small farm and the conducting of paper-making, in partnership with his elder brother, William, at Bloomfield. This brother had been bred to this business practically in a mill owned by their father, and after his death, the firm of W. & C. Baldwin continued the business. For 33 years this partnership continued, and its successful financial conduct through the many depressions and reverses of this period demonstrated his ability and sound judgment as a financier. It was dissolved but a short time before the death of the elder brother in 1865, because of his increasing years. About the same time a cancer developed itself under Mr. Baldwin's left ear, and after much suffering on his part caused his death Feb'y 4, 1868.

Mr. Baldwin was of a quiet, retiring disposition, averse to appearing in any way prominent, and many times declined nomination for public office. He was prompt in every public duty and patriotic, as shown by his volunteering when but a school-boy in the War of 1812, and by the great interest he took in the suppression of the late rebellion. He was known as a man of firm, decided character and clear judgment, and his advice was sought in the launching of many young enterprises. He was the friend of sound education, and long before the era of public schools he aided and took a leading part in the establishment of private schools of a high grade which flourished in Bloomfield and gave a wide reputation to the town as an educational center. In the words of a friend who knew him well in middle life: "He was easily one of the first men of the town."

Fond of active, out-door life, and finding it necessary thus to strengthen a naturally frail constitution, he cultivated a small farm, giving his personal labor thereto during all these years, and his crops were always among the best. He was devoted to his home, fond of his children and young people generally, and genial in his intercourse with those whom he knew intimately, while to strangers he appeared reserved. He was of medium height and spare, with fair complexion and blue eyes. His hair, of a dark brown, originally, was early tinged with gray, and in middle life he became quite bald. He is said, more than the other children, to have resembled his father, and also to have been like his grandfather David.

Mr. Baldwin was married May 4, 1831, at Morristown, N. J., to Susan Maria Moore, b. Jan'y 20, 1804, second dau. of Loammii and Huldah (Byram) Moore, the latter being a lineal descendant of John Alden and Priscilla Mullen, of the "Mayflower." Mrs. B. is still living at Easton, Pa.

They had eight ch., all b. in Bloomfield, N. J.

The Associated Press dispatches, of Sept. 18, 1886, say: "Asher B. Durand, perhaps the oldest American painter of note, died yesterday at his home in South Orange, N. J. He was born in 1796 at Jefferson, N. J. His first noticeable work was the engraving of Trumbull's well-known picture, 'The Declaration of Independence,' which occupied him three years. In 1835 he abandoned the graver for the brush, having before this become a frequent contributor of portraits and landscapes in oil to the National Academy of Design exhibitions. At first he devoted himself to portraits and figure subjects, but he turned his attention to landscape painting in later years, and for this he is chiefly known. His rendering of mountain scenery especially was much admired, and he counted among his best works 'Franconia Mountain,' 'A Primeval Forest' and 'The Rainbow.'" His studies of trees and foliage are also pleasing in sentiment and execution. In 1845 his portrait of William C. Bryant, afterward engraved by himself, was painted, while among his historical subjects are 'The Capture of Major Andre' and 'The Wrath of Peter Stuyvesant.' Mr. Durand was elected President of the National Academy of Design at the death of Professor Morse, and this honorable position he held for many years. His brush had for some years been idle and he had lived in retirement at his country home. Few among his fellows were personally held in higher esteem both as an artist and a man than Mr. Durand. His ninetieth birthday was celebrated by the gathering together of his friends at South Orange and congratulations and tokens of esteem were showered upon him.<sup>7</sup>

THE STORY OF A LONG LIFE.

"The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd took place on Sunday afternoon last from the residence of her son-in-law, in East Orange. She was probably the oldest woman in New Jersey, and as she was known to all old residents of Essex county, the following sketch of her life, contributed by a friend of the deceased lady, is given in full:

"Mrs. Elizabeth Dodd was born December 17, 1788; died May 15, 1884, in the ninety-sixth year of her age. She was the daughter of Caleb Baldwin, and granddaughter of Ezekiel; the latter was the son of John Baldwin, who, with his brother Joseph, took possession, in 1716, of lands in Newark, left by their grandfather, John Ward, of Milford, Conn. John Baldwin, her ancestor, died at the advanced age of ninety, and was buried at Connecticut Farms, and his brother Joseph died aged ninety-two, and was buried at Newark. Ezekiel, her grandfather, died January 27, 1805, aged eighty-six. He married his second cousin, Sarah Baldwin, a granddaughter of Benjamin Baldwin, one of the first settlers of Newark in 1668. It was he whose half bushel measure was so much approved that it was made the standard measure. Caleb, her father, was born in 1757; served in the cavalry with credit during the Revolution, and excelled in business, priding himself that his saddle never hurt a horse's back. He died at an early age, forty-two, leaving eight children.

"Elizabeth, with the rest, were necessarily thrown upon their own resources, self-support. She early took to the spinning-wheel, which is still in the possession of her eldest son, M. M. Dood, to gain a livelihood, and not one of her nine children but has been charmed by its buzz. When a girl, as was the custom then, she traveled from house to house with her spinning-wheel and spun for the farmers, receiving four shillings per week and board. She continued the use of this wheel until within forty years. This early training to industry and self-support well fitted her for the duties in after life. She married Lewis Dodd, Nov. 12, 1808, and about this time united with the First Presbyterian Church of Orange. She and her husband commenced housekeeping near where their son, M. M. Dodd, now lives and had their nine children, all of whom she and her husband saw grown up and married in the order of their births. The house was very unpretentious, situated nearly opposite the barn in which the whiskey was destroyed by the British and from which circumstance the Lane obtained its name. The barn was torn down January 24, 1814.

"She was what might be called a positive woman, fixed and firm in her convictions with unbounded push, there being no task so great but that it could be accomplished by perseverance. For many years she was always the last one to bed and the first up, attending to her household duties. Her teachings were piety, honesty, industry and economy. Her books were the Bible, Scott's Commentary and Rev. Dr. Weeks' Evidences of Christianity. As before stated, she had nine children; she saw them all advanced above fifty years of age, but beside these she took one or two orphans and brought them up. One was Wm. Henry Baldwin, her nephew. She became a mother to him when only a few weeks old, and doubtless he was as sincere a mourner as any of her own children. She left nearly one hundred descendants, there being five generations living, before her death her grandson being a grandfather. Not one of her descendants have ever cost the town, county or State a farthing, nor been indicted, nor been discreditable by breach of trust reposed in them during the whole period. She never turned away the hungry or the naked, but her house was an asylum for the orphan and insane. She visited the sick at all hours of the night and administered to their wants.

"Constituted of such material, and born just after the Revolution when everything was confusion and bankruptcy, she was schooled to pass through adversity, which she did with astonishment and admiration to all who knew her history, and it had much to do to mould the character of many of her children. Her firmness amounted almost to austerity; her command was law and meant obedience; her children must attend church Sundays and school week days, and never be idle. Her example has made an indelible impression upon many of her offspring. May they ever remember and imitate her good qualities and be prepared to leave as good an earthly record and have as clear a heavenly one as we believe she has. At her funeral on Sabbath last her grandchildren and great grandchildren were the pall bearers and the pastor of the church with which she had for thirty years been connected, the Rev. C. T.

Haley, was enabled to speak of a Christian profession adorned with the graces of female piety and bearing fruit in all the walks of a consistent life."

Bethuel Lewis M. D., Elizabeth (Baldwin<sup>6</sup>) Dodd, b. Jan'y 16, 1826. Dr. Dodd is the well-known author, (with John R. Burnett,) of "Genealogies of the Male Descendants of Daniel Dod, of Branford, Conn., a Native of England, 1646 to 1863;" published at Newark, 1864; an elegant book, to which, as stated in my first book, the Baldwin Genealogy is much indebted. The readers of this volume are much more indebted to him, for next to Mr. F. A. R. Baldwin, has he contributed very largely to it. I cannot well express the measure of my obligation. He was the 8th child, and with his brothers and sisters, taught from early childhood strict industry and economy. There were nine children to clothe and feed, and at sixteen his father had also a widowed mother and brothers and sisters thrown upon him for support and care. His father, Matthias, and sister, Rachel, were drowned at Coney Island, and his brother, William, killed by lightning within a year. Lewis was the chief dependence of this family deprived of their main support, and located upon an uncultivated and unimproved farm, located upon a narrow lane, later called Whiskey Lane. Dr. Dodd gives so characteristic a sketch of the times that I cannot omit it:

"At the time the British held New York and Staten Island, and Washington with his small army at Morristown, westward about twenty-five miles Newark, then a small town, and the country between two hostile armies, were foraged by one, or called upon to give support of what they had to the other. At an early period of the possession of Staten Island by the British, Mr. Jonathan Sayre, who owned a store upon the dock, at Newark, from whence he was accustomed to transport products to the New York market, including whiskey, when he heard that the Red Coats were coming up the Passaic River, he at once procured what ox teams he could, and had his whiskey conveyed to this by-lane, about three miles from Newark, then comparatively a forest, and deposited in a bay of a barn owned by Caleb Baldwin (son of Moses, page 499,) and covered with salt hay. Soon after, as it became a custom for the British to send foraging parties twice a week around about Newark, to procure whatever they could with very little opposition. On one occasion, night overtaking them, a company quartered in the barn, and in order to have something to lie upon besides the oaken boards, commenced to cover them with hay from the bay. Finding the whiskey, they, like Cassio in Othello, became drunk. After supposing of having emptied all the casks the next morning, they departed for Newark. But much of the whiskey was left undisturbed, although word reached Mr. Sayre that it was a total loss; consequently he never went to look after it. At the return of our soldiers upon furlough to visit their families, in the surrounding country, it became known that there was considerable whiskey left, and when the signal guns sounded, and the bonfires upon the mountains summoned them to repair to their regiments, they would assemble with their flint locks and knapsacks, fill their canteens with some of the remaining whiskey of Jonathan Sayre, from this lane. It lasted during the whole war, and some time after, and in this way it came to be called Whiskey Lane, which name it retained until sometime between 1850 and 1860.

"A few years since," says Dr. Dodd, "my brother, M. M. Dodd, who now owns a portion of my father's farm, immediately opposite where the barn stood, while removing the old stone fence, found a sword which apparently belonged to a British officer, and is supposed left there on this occasion, as they and their horses were quartered opposite in the wood. The sword is deposited in the New Jersey Historical Society. The barn was torn down on the 24th of January, 1814, which was the birth day of my brother Matthias. My father was assisting in the work when word reached him of being a father of a son—Matthias, he was called. The original Whiskey Lane,(as it is not christened,) was about one mile in length, until 1840, running from the main highway between Newark and Orange to what was then called Boiling Spring Lane. Narrow, crooked, bordered with heavy wood, brush and stone fence. Now it extends from Bloomfield to Irvington, six or eight miles in length, lined with palacios dwellings supplied with water and gas, occupied mostly by New York merchants; streets and sidewalks paved and flagged; the ground sells for more per foot than it did per acre when I assisted my father in the cultivation 40 years since. Such was the wild nature of the homestead prior and during my youth. Grandfather Matthias substituted his adze for his sword, for he was a carpenter and a soldier and erected his unpretentious house about 1784, (in which my birth was the last,) nearly opposite Whiskey Barn. Here he commenced housekeeping with his young wife and two or three small children. He gave most of his attention to getting out, framing heavy timber and shipping it to New York for store houses; consequently very little of his land was cultivated and productive when it came into my father's possession. Matthias was drowned with his daughter, Rachel, in 1801; then my father was only 17 years of age. You may brief this as much as you like; but I cannot give you a satisfactory idea of my texture and make-up without the woof and warp. Father was likewise a tradesman and manufacturer of shoes for the New York market, and paid little attention to his farm. At one time, he shipped apples and cider to Savannah, but lost his entire cargo in consequence of the breaking out of yellow fever. His heart always got the better of his judgement, and becoming surety to others, he incurred loss and anxiety to himself and family.

Such were the scenes of my childhood and straits of my parents, receiving all the advantages attending upon poverty and industry, which I have found far more valuable than riches and idleness; the former often make while the latter ruin. From here, with the economy and industry of his wife, nine children went forth, and I have heard my father say that he never paid but $27 for physicians' fees, and that was $3 for each confinement."

Lewis Dodd prospered. In 1846 his son entered Princeton College, graduating in 1849. He entered the office of Dr. Abraham Coles, of Newark, and graduated M.D. at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, N. Y. City, in 1852. Soon after, he entered into equal partnership with his preceptor, Dr. Coles, in an extensive practice. The connection continued nearly 25 years. Dr. Dodd has been District Physician, Police Surgeon, Surgeon for the N. J. R. R. Co. He was, at the beginning of the war, volunteer surgeon of Ward's Hospital and examining surgeon for several New Jersey regiments. From about 1862 to 1872 he was County Physician of Essex, the highest medical office in the county.

Dr. Dodd m. Oct. 4, 1854, Susan E. Jaques, dau. of John D. and Clarissa (Freeman) Jaques, son of John C. and Margaret (Dobbs) Jaques. Clarissa Freeman was dau. of Samuel and Susan (Jaques) Freeman. Feb'y 11, 1870, and he m. 2nd May 22, 1872, Gertrude Ray Ward, born Sept. 11, 1838, dau. of Richard Ray and Gertrude E. (Doughty) Ward.

"Richard R. Ward, the father of his wife, was the son of Lieut. Colonel Samuel Ward, and Phebe, daughter of Governor William and Catharine Greene, of R. I. Lieut. Colonel Ward descended on both sides from the celebrated Roger Williams; was graduated from Brown University with high honors, in 1771, and throughout his youth and early manhood was an intimate friend and relative of General Nathaniel Greene. On the 8th of May, 1775, he received a commission as a captain of a company to be raised in Kings and Kent counties of R. I., for the preservation of his Majesty's loyal and faithful subjects of the Colony of Rhode Island. His second commission is dated July 1, 1775, and signed by John Hancock, under the authority of Congress, as President of that body.

"Capt. Ward was one of two hundred and fifty of the Rhode Island troops who volunteered under Lieut. Colonel Christopher Greene to join Colonel Benedict Arnold's command, of altogether eleven hundred men, directed to join General Montgomery, at Quebec, by way of Kennebec River, in Maine. He was at the storming of the city, and was taken prisoner and remained so until his father died. He was released, 1776, on parole."

She has a large estate, and at the early age of fifty, Dr. Dodd retired, spending his time but slightly in some offices held by him in his old profession, in literary pursuits, and in the care of the business concerns of his wife and his own. He is also trustee for several estates and for the "Home of the Friendless in Newark." His address is Orange, where they have an elegant country home.

He has children—

1118. Christopher Columbus<sup>7</sup> Eden<sup>6</sup> Jonathan<sup>5</sup> David<sup>4</sup> Joseph<sup>3</sup> Joseph<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, b. Aug. 1, 1800, in Templeton, Mass. I present a brief sketch of Mr. Baldwin, abridged from an obituary notice to be found in the 2d Volume of the publications of the American Antiquarian Society, written by John Davis, LL.D.

He was educated at Harvard University, and after reading law, commenced a successful practice in Worcester, Mass., in 1825, and afterwards in Barre. His taste led him to literature, and especially to antiquarian research. The furniture of his office were the productions of another age. His time-piece was the work of the first clock-maker in Worcester. In his travels he exhibited a strong taste for history, genealogy and antiquity. In 1825 he commenced in Worcester, with Mr. William Lincoln, the publication of the Worcester Magazine and Historical Journal, which extended to two volumes, which was a fair index of his tastes, and which, although not successful in money, is still valued by scholars.

He was an early member of the American Antiquarian Society. In 1831 he became its librarian, accepting at a small salary an important trust, sure to entail great drudgery. I cannot recite the details of that drudgery. His intercourse with visitors was felicitous, and his correspondence extensive. "Thus," says our authority, "the Society has attained a palmy state of prosperity chiefly under the influence of a mind most admirably adapted to enlarge its respectability and usefulness." Mr. Baldwin's health failed, and the Society despatched him to the West to visit and explore its antiquities. While on that visit at Norwich, Ohio, August 20, 1835, he was instantly killed by the overturning of a stage-coach.

Says Mr. Davis: "Few persons have been more caressed for enticing social qualities. His disposition was amiable, his manners easy and conciliatory, his address affable, his temperament almost without exception cheerful, and often humorous. At the table, the fireside—in all the little coteries of friends where his company was always much sought, he enlivened and animated all. His satire, though often pungent, seldom excited resentment. His wit was generally the offspring of good feeling, and served to amuse rather than irritate. He was a person of happy temper, having an uncommon share of good-nature and unoffending wit which insured him a kind and favorable reception wherever he moved.”

Mr. Baldwin was the first of the name to give attention to the genealogy of the family, and had he lived, would have been the established authority on the subject.

His collection of manuscripts and letters relating to it is still in the library of which he was librarian, and of interest, though it contains not one hundredth part as many letters as were written for the purposes of this volume and its predecessor.

For the past thirty years Mr. Baldwin has been at the head of one of the most extensive manufactories of straw goods in the country, and by his encouragement in machinery he has rendered it one of the most perfect establishments of its kind. He has given employment to a large number of operatives and contributed liberally by his various enterprises to the prosperity of his native town.

Although not a politician, Mr. Baldwin consented, in 1860, to serve as Senator of his District, but the personal supervision which he habitually devotes to his various investments in mercantile and manufacturing interests and pursuits, are apparently more attractive and congenial to his nature than politics. Mr. B. has acquired a handsome estate, and his beautiful residence occupies a slightly elevation near Milford depot.

Mrs. Baldwin died May 15, 1886, at the residence of her daughter, by Mr. Whitney, Mrs. Cornelius Fellows, 570 Fifth Avenue, New York City, having been suddenly taken ill there. Mrs. Baldwin's body was taken by train to Milford.

She was a devoted mother and friend, and was greatly esteemed and respected by all.

1997. (p 581) Daniel Pratt<sup>8</sup> Hira<sup>7</sup> John<sup>6</sup> David<sup>5</sup> David<sup>4</sup> Joseph<sup>3</sup> Joseph<sup>2</sup> Joseph<sup>1</sup>, b. in Madison County, N. Y., March 22, 1807. His mother was a dau. of Daniel Pratt, and sister of Hon. D. D. Pratt, U. S. Senator from Indiana, from 1869 to 1875. His great-grandfather was Daniel Pratt, of Belchertown, Mass.

He graduated from Cazenovia Seminary in 1852; from Madison University, in 1856, and from Columbia Law School in 1860. He excelled as a linguist and writer. In 1860 he settled in Logansport, Indiana, as a lawyer, and with his uncle, under the firm of Pratt & Baldwin, did a large business. He m. in 1863, Julia Smith. In 1870 he was appointed Judge. In 1880 he was elected Attorney General of his State. In 1872 he received twice the degree of LL.D.—once from his alma mater, and again from Wabash College, Indiana.

He has acquired wealth, and has practically retired from his profession. He is engaged in banking and interested in cattle raising in the West. He has been an active, well-known writer, influential with pen and voice. He has stumped Indiana three times in the Republican cause, and has delivered very many college addresses, lectures and political speeches, many of which have been printed, and have met with large circulation and approval. These display a wide and useful learning in literature, law; politics, education and even in religious matters.

He is a trustee of Wabash College, has a decided taste for literary pursuits and a library of 3,000 volumes. He was thrice nominated by acclamation for Attorney General, but fell twice with the ticket. He has no living children, having lost two in infancy.

Though at times he feels like taking the indolent rest to which he is entitled, his active and ambitious temperament spurs him to great activity. He is thus drawn from strictly literary pursuits, and is widely known as a public speaker, and especially as a campaigner.

(P 614) Francis Leonard Dwight<sup>8</sup> Francis<sup>7</sup> Leonard<sup>6</sup> Samuel<sup>5</sup> Ebenezer<sup>4</sup>, known as Capt. Frank D. Baldwin, b. June 26, 1842, in Washtenaw County, Michigan. Aged 19 at the breaking out of the great Civil War, he left his college and enlisted and served with a short vacation until the end of that great conflict, when he returned to his college. The following year he received a commission as lieutenant in the regular army. He has been engaged since that time in defense of the frontiers and protection of advancing civilization.

He m. Jan'y 10, 1867, Alice Blackwood, of Nashville, Wayne County, Mich., dau. of Dr. Thomas and Jane (Osborne) Blackwood, b. at Ann Arbor, Michigan, Aug. 21, 1845. Her parents died in Sacramento when she was young. She is a graduate of the college at Albion, Mich. She has, since her marriage, accompanied her husband and undergone many hardships, privations and dangers of his life.

It is said her life would sound like fiction, though it be the facts and experience of the wife of an army officer.

Mr. Baldwin enlisted Aug., 1861; was made Second Lieutenant Sept. 19, 1861; First Lieutenant, 19th Michigan Inf., July 28, 1862. He was in Libby Prison, March 25, 1863, to June, 1863, when he was exchanged. He was placed in command of a detachment of mounted troops, dispersing guerillas in East Tennessee; Captain, Jan'y 23, 1864. He was in Sherman's famous march, and engaged in many battles: Lieut. Col., June 15, 1865.

He was made Second Lieutenant 19th Inf. U. S. A., Feb'y 23, 1866; June and July, 1867, commanded the escort to Gen'l Hancock, en route from Fort Harper, Kansas, to Denver. His movements afterwards are too many and rapid to recount. He was in 1874 and 1875 Chief of Scouts, Indian Territory expedition of Gen'l Miles: nor can I recount even his engagements with the Indians, but only the most romantic of his adventures. In September, 1874, while bearing dispatches, with three scouts, he was attacked by 75 Indians at White Fish Creek, Texas: 8 November, of the same year, in command of two companies and one mounted gun, he attacked and defeated a large camp of Indians under Grey-Beard, on McClellan's Creek, Texas, re-capturing two white children, Adelaide and Julia Germain; July, 1876, acting Adjutant of Battalion Fifth Inf., and November, same year, A. A. A. Gen. of the Yellowstone command under Brevet Maj. Gen. Miles: December 7, attacked Sitting Bull's camp, near Fort Peck, M. T., driving him north of the Missonai River: December 18, again attacked and defeated him on the Shed Water River, M. T. He participated in the battle of Little Wolf Mountain, and is A. A. Gen. to Gen. Miles: was in the campaigns of the Yellowstone during 1877 and 1878; March 20, 1879, promoted to Captain Fifth Infantry; March 9, 1880, he commanded troops in an encounter with Indians at the head of Porcupine Creek, M. T.: November, 1880, and October, 1880, in Lock Cave, in Europe. In November, 1881, Acting Judge Advocate in the department of the Columbia. In 1887 he is stationed at Fort Totten, Dakota Territory.

I am sorry I cannot give space for the romantic adventures of this gallant officer, who is spoken of in the highest terms by his superior officers in official communication.

In 1880 General Miles speaks of the many reports of the services and achievements of Captain Baldwin, as well of the value of his legal opinions as Judge Advocate, which services he rendered for five or six years.

The official paper, by command of General Miles, of Sept. 24, 1874, details his gallant exploits as bearer of despatches with three scouts, although surrounded by Indians six to one, and when more than 150 miles from the nearest military post, "this indomitable little party of four not only avoided delay and carried their despatches safely, but inflicted much severe punishment upon the Indians, killing three times their own number, at least, so that they were glad to abandon the attack."

Then follows an account of the "long, severe march of Lieut. Baldwin, made chiefly in darkness and blinding rain: the capture, by a dashing charge, and without firing a shot, of an out-post of a party of 200 Indians on the Washita, together with his skillful and courageous conduct in leading a small party of troops, white and Indian guides, sent from the right flank of this command, for 180 miles from Beaver Creek to Antelope Hills, by way of Adobe Walls, serve further to illustrate a character for dashing courage, intrepidity and sound judgement, which had been earned in his earlier services."

In a letter to the department, of November 3, 1877, General Miles says:

"Since the war he has been engaged in nearly every Indian campaign. With a small command he surprised and fought the forces of Gray Beard, on the North Fork of the Red River, Texas, in 1874, and on Redwater, Montana, in December, 1876, he surprised the camp of Sitting Bull, with 122 lodges of hostile Sioux, driving them from the field with loss. For gallantry and skill in command of an independent force, his record is unsurpassed by any officer of his rank in the service and his ability and integrity eminently qualify him for any position in the Pay, Quartermaster, or Commissary Departments or advancement in the lines. Similar praises are to be found at Washington, Oct. 16, 1880, from Gen'l Alfred H. Terry, and November, 1880, from Gen'l John Pope.

And General Sherman speaks of him the same year as an officer of merit and intelligence, and elsewhere as of experience and marked talent.

(Ante pp. 1100 and 482.)

In the name of God, amen, this seventeenth day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand, seven hundred and twenty-six, I, Benjamin Baldwin, of Newark, in the county of Essex and Eastern Division of New Jersey, weaver; being aged and Infirm of Body, but of sound and perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God therefor: and calling into mind ye frailty and mortality of my Body, and Knowing that it is appointed unto man once to Dye, doe make and ordain this my last will and Testament, (that is to say,) first and principally, I Recommend my soul into the hands of God who Gave it, hoping that through the alone merits of Jesus Christ to obtain Eternall Life, and my Body I Recommend to the Earth to be buried in decent, Christian maner at ye discretion of my Executors hereafter named, nothing doubting but at ye Generall Resurrection I shall receive the same again through ye mighty power of God, and as Touching such wordly estate wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise and dispose thereof in manner and form following: Imprimis: My will is that all my just debts and funerall expenses be paid and discharged.

Item: I will and bequeath unto my Loving Daughter Susanah Baldwin, widow and Rellict of my son Jonathan Baldwin, Deceased, the whole and sole use and improvement of house, barn and house-lot in Newark where he formerly dwelt, with the Orchard and Land which he was in the time of his life possessed of the same to be and Remain to her, the said Susanah, during her Natural Life.

Item: I will and bequeath unto my four Grand-children, Daughters of my said son Jonathan, deceased, (viz.:) Bethya, Hanah, Susanah and Sarah, each of them the sum of Seven pounds money or equivalent to money, to be paid to them and each of them by my Executors within four years after my decease.

Item: I give, bequeath and devise unto my loving daughter Sarah Young, the sum of Thirty pounds in money, or in other Specie acquivallent thereunto, to be paid to her, her heirs or assigns within four years after my decease by my Executors hereafter named.

Item: I will, bequeath and devise unto my son, Joseph Baldwin, that house, barn and orchard whereon he now dwells, containing six acres of land, together with ye one equall half of all my out Land and meadow held by pattent, together with ye equall half of that part before given unto my daughter-in-law, the said half to be to him after her decease, and the same with the other half to be to him the said Joseph Baldwin and to his heirs and assigns for Ever.

Item: I will, devise and bequeath unto my youngest son, Benjamin Baldwin, the house, Barn and house lot whereon I now dwell, together with the one equall half of all my out Lands and meadows, together with ye remaining half of that house and land Given to ye said Susanah during her Life, and also I give to him, the said Benjamin, a piece of Boggy Meadow which I bought of Capt. Swain; all the above mentioned lands and meadows to be equally divided between him the said Benjamin, and the above said Joseph, excepting the last mentioned piece of Boggy Meadow, and the same equall half to be and remain unto him, the said Benjamin Baldwin and to his heirs and assigns forever.

And I do hereby constitute, nominate and appoint my trusty and loving Son-in-law, Robert Young, and my son, Benjamin Baldwin, within mentioned, Joint Executors of this, my last will and Testament, and I doe hereby utterly disallow, Revoke and disanul all and every other and former Testaments, wills, Legacies and bequests

(Dated March 31, 1739 — p. 1109)

Know all men by these Presents, that I, Stephen Baldwin, Jun'r., of Newark, in the County of Essex, and Eastern division of New Jersey, Joiner, am held and firmly bound unto Israel Baldwin, of the same place, Yeoman, in the just and full sum of One Hundred pounds current money of New Jersey, aforesaid, to be paid unto him, the said Israel Baldwin, or to his certain attorney, heirs, Executors, administrators or assigns, to the which payment will and truly to be made, I bind myself, my heirs, executors, administrators and every one of them firmly by these presents Sealed with my seal. Dated this thirty-first day of March, in the twelfth year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord George, the Second, by the Grace of God of Great Britain, France, and Ireland: King, defender of the faith, &c. Anno Dom: 1739.

The condition of the above obligation is such that whereas, the said Israel Baldwin, hath released unto the said Stephen Baldwin, a certain part of his Plantation by a release bearing even date with these presents, in which all the Orchard of fruit trees is included. If, therefore, the said Stephen Baldwin, his heirs, Ex'rs, Admin's, shall allow the said Israel Baldwin, his heirs, Exec's, Admin's, and assigns, free liberty and privilege to gather, carry off and convert to his own use, one equal half of all the fruit which said Orchard bears during the full time and term of fifteen years from the date: also do, or cause to be done to the value of twelve pounds in joiner work towards building of an house which the said Israel Baldwin purposes to build on the remaining of said Plantation; also bear his equal part, (viz:) the half of all necessary charges which may hereafter be expended by the said Israel Baldwin to their honored Mother, or Brothers, or Sisters, by any claim they may have to their Estate: then the above obligation to be void and of none effect, or else to stand, be and remain in full Strength, Power and vertue.

Signed, Sealed and delivered

STEPHEN BALDWIN, [L. S.]

in the Presence of—

JONATHAN SERGEANT,

CALEB BALDWIN.

It is worthy of note that, although on page 1104, only Israel and Stephen are given to 23 Joseph<sup>3</sup>, the bond speaks of brothers and sisters.

HENRY BALDWIN, OF WOBURN, MASS.

Henry Baldwin, of Woburn, Mass., was there in 1652; said to be a subscriber to town orders for Woburn in 1640 or 1641. I do not propose to repeat what I said about him in my first book.

Henry Baldwin

p. 615 and after. He m. 1649, Phebe Richardson, dan. Ezekiel and cousin to the wife of John Baldwin, of Billerica, whose will Henry witnessed. They were likely relatives—perhaps brothers—probably of the family heretofore treated of, resident in Buckinghamshire and the border of Hertfordshire, adjoining.

By an old tradition (p. 687 & 995.) they came from Herts.

If he was the subscriber in 1640, it is hardly probable he was the Henry on page 45, who had a brother John and a sister Jane and father, Richard.

A Richard and daughter, Jane, were at Braintree, Mass., in 1637, but disappeared, and likely returned to England.

One is naturally reminded by this Henry, of Capt. John Mason, and the Henry Baldwin who was early in New Hampshire. In a list of the names of stewards and servants sent by John Mason, Esq., into the province of New Hampshire, is among the servants not being named as stewards, "Henry Baldwin." The document is not dated, but is assigned about 1631 to 1634.

Capt. John Mason, of London, by his will dated 20 Nov., 1635, left £5 to "Bettrice Baldwyn." She is mentioned between the children of sister, "Dorothie More," who have £6 each, and his brothers-in-law, who have each 50 s.

It is possible that Henry, of Woburn, and John, of Billerica, who both married in Woburn, may have been from Woburn, Buckinghamshire, England, where were Baldwins of the Bucks County line—one of whom, "R. Baldwyn," is mentioned in Clarkson's life of William Penn, as in 1684, of Woburn, who, with G. Salter, (see p. 39,) in all seventeen—all Quakers—were indicted for a riot, (Quaker meeting,) and imprisoned in "Aylesbury goal," where they lay for three years, until King James proclaimed a pardon. Some of the lands of the Buck's Baldwins, from whom descended the Baldwins of Milford, came into the ownership of the heirs of William Penn, and in that family descended the Bryant deed, appearing hereafter in this volume.

30. Daniel Daniel<sup>2</sup> Henry<sup>1</sup>. The date and circumstances of his death appears in C. J. Fox's History of Dunstable. September 4, 1724, a body of French and Mohawks fell on Dunstable and took two captives. Next day Lieut. Ebenezer French, and 10 of the principal inhabitants pursued. They were fired upon at Naticoke Brook, and eight were killed, whose names appear in the Boston News-Letter. Daniel Baldwin was of Woburn. They were interred near the State line, and the date is fixed by the monument:

"MEMENTO MORI.

"Here lies the body of MR. THOMAS LUND,

73. (p 625) Jeduthan<sup>4</sup> Isaac<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup>. Says Mr. Thomas Baldwin:

Jeduthan<sup>x</sup> Baldwin

“ I have in my possession a journal kept by Jeduthan Baldwin. It is in two portions; one portion commences with December 1, 1755, and continues until May 4, 1756. He was located during that interval at Crown Point. Another portion commences Dec. 8, 1775, and goes to January 17, 1779. He speaks of himself as an engineer in the Continental army. He was at Dorchester Heights and Cambridge until the middle of March, 1776, when he received orders to go to New York, where he was set to work on the fortifications. In April, 1776, he started for Quebec. Went up the Hudson to Albany, and then by way of Fort Edward and Ticonderoga, and down the river Sorell to Shambalee and Sorell. This is as far as he went toward Quebec as the retreating army met him here. By the last of July he was back to Ticonderoga, and was there at the time of the surrender of Burgoyne's army. In December, 1776, he returned to his home in Brookfield, and in January, 1777, he went to Boston and to Portsmouth, N. H., and by the first of February was back to Albany, on his way to Lake George. He remained at Lake George until November, when he again returned home. From this time to July, 1778, I have not his diary. In July, 1778, he was at New York, and seemed to be in that neighborhood the rest of that year. I have also what seems to be an incomplete account of the trial of those concerned in the Shay's rebellion. It is dated April 26, 1787.

Hoping these facts may be acceptable to you,

I remain yours respectfully,

THOS. W. BALDWIN,

THE LATE AUSTIN BALDWIN.

"The Hon. Austin Baldwin, Speaker of the Connecticut House, 1855, died at his residence in New York, Friday. He was born in Albany, in 1807, of the Cavendish, Vermont, family of Baldwins. In 1822 his father took him to New York, where he began the study of law, but abandoned that on the death of his father in 1828, and took up the latter's business, the manufacture of planes and planing irons, in New York city. In 1836 he removed his business to Middletown, Conn., and there became one of the originators of the old Whig party and enjoyed the friendship of both Henry Clay and Daniel Webster. He was for one term Speaker of the Connecticut House, and twice he was nominated for Governor by the Know-Nothing, or American party, and also held office under President Harrison. From the origin of the Republican party he was identified with it and stoutly advocated the maintenance of the Union, but during the war retired from active politics by reason of the intimate social relations that he had contracted with prominent southern men. In 1857 Mr. Baldwin returned to New York and entered on the shipping business, and in 1872 when the State Steamship line was formed, he took charge of that company in this country, and he was actively engaged in that business until his death. The interment will be at Middletown next Tuesday afternoon."

His dau., Annie, was b. 1838.

FRANCIS BALDWIN, OF CHESTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

1. (p 727.) Francis Baldwin. An unusual number of errors took place in the Pennsylvania lines owing to my long absence from home on account of the sickness of a member of my family while it was printed.

Francis was, as I have said, brother of John, page 735, and of Thomas, page 744. Hereafter will be found under Thomas, evidence in addition to tradition, that they came from Oxfordshire, and they may likely have been remotely connected with the Baldwins of Buckinghamshire. Francis was a settler in the neighborhood of Chester, Penn. His father-in-law was named Coebourne, not Colbourne, and on page 727 read John Coebourne, not Colbourne.

4. Ann, m. William Ford, who was from Brandywine Hundred, New Castle County, Delaware; not Delaware County.

JOHN BALDWIN, OF CHESTER COUNTY, PENN.

1. John,<sup>1</sup> brother of Francis and Thomas, and see Thomas, p. 745, and post herein as to evidence that he came from Oxfordshire. He was an early settler in Aston, now in Delaware, then in Chester County, Penn.

In my former volume the matter is reversed. He m. June, 1689, (not July.) In the last line, for Sept. 9, read Nov. 7, p. 736, line 10. "He," commencing the sentence, means John Baldwin. I am told his will was dated April 2, 1731. In 9th line from the bottom, for Jonas Sutherland, read Sandeland.

2. Ruth, was b. April, 1694.

3. John, b. June 10, 1697+

(P 736) John<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>. In this account I have often given wrong dates, the originals being in Quaker style and counted wrongly. For instance, ch.:

4. John, 12th mo. Feb'y 22, (not Dec.) 1719+

5. Joshua, 11th mo. Jan'y 3, 1721, (not Nov.)+

6. Mary; no such child. She was dau. John<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>1</sup> p. 763.

4. (p 738) John<sup>3</sup> John<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>. As I was unable to examine proof in this part of my book, errors are much too frequent. East calm, often named from page 738 to 745, should be East Caln. John m. Nov., 1743, not Sept. His wife was born Jan'y, 1725. He did not marry, the 2nd time, and his first and only wife survived him and died in 1788.

10. Ann, m. 1782, at Uwehlan meeting. not Unehlan. Her husband was born Feb'y, not April.

The printer has uniformly blundered in my former volume in printing Unehlan for Uwehlan. For William Sherwell's History, read William Sewell's. Third line from the bottom, for "by indenture," read an indenture, and in the last line, for "denied him," read "devised him."

(P 739] 5th line for "Joshua Baldwin, of East Calm. cutter," read Joshua Baldwin, of East Calm. cutler.

5. Joshua<sup>5</sup> John<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup>. For Tomazin, read Thomazin; for Marey, read Mercy.

10. Hannah, b. 1719, m. Oct., 1767. Children:

Mercy, b. Aug., 1768, m. Sept., 1786.

Sarah, m. April, 1789, not June, 1787.

Samuel, b. April, 1773, d. Aug., 1778.

Rachel, m. March, 1799.

William, b. June 4, (not 14,) 1783.

23. (p 740) John, for "at the intersection," read intersected by.

44. (p 741) Jane, b. 1788, m. Samuel Hoopers, not Hooper; for Downingtown, read Downington, wherever it occurs.

25. Jonathan C.<sup>5</sup> Caleb<sup>4</sup> John<sup>3</sup>, b. in Calm, Chester County, Penn.

81. (p 743) Lydia, m. Robert Potts, of Colemanville, Lancaster County, Penn.

94. Emma L., not Emma S.

64. Caleb<sup>6</sup> Jonathan C<sup>5</sup>. Caleb<sup>4</sup>, m. Emily Lewis, not Lawis-

THOMAS, OF CHESTER COUNTY, PENN.

---

(P 744) Thomas Baldwin, brother of Francis and John, reputed to be from Oxfordshire. His will was proved 1731, not 1831. Richard Linville had lands in Fleching, not Flushing, Sussex.

I have from a valued correspondent the subjoined letter, the information in which as to origin coincides with the opinion of Mr. Cope, on page 736.

GRANVILLE, O., 15 Jan'y, 1884.

DEAR SIR.—The following copied from Thomas Shourd's History of Fenwick's Colony,* p. 411, may be of interest to you :

“An old manuscript book which at one time belonged to Thomas Killingsworth the first judge and Baptist clergyman in Fenwick's Colony, dates back to the 18th of January, 1690; and at the death of Killingsworth it was delivered to Cornelius Copner, an inhabitant of Penn's Neck, on the 16th of August, 1709. About 1725 or 1730, Thomas Miles, the celebrated surveyor, became the possessor of it. In it appears that Killingsworth kept a genealogical record of a number of families that adhered to the Baptist faith, some of whom can be traced accurately up to this day; and others, whose children have either left the State, or the name has been lost in the female line. Most of the English families that he chronicled were inhabitants of Penn's Neck.

“Thomas Baldwin was born in Oxfordshire, England, in December, 1657. His wife, Mary Baldwin, was born in the Parish of Macefield, in the County of Sussex, England, 24th of 8th month, 1653. They emigrated to America soon after they were married, and located in Fenwick's Colony, in the township of Penn's Neck, about the year 1683. Their stay in this county was of a short duration, for in 1685 they removed to Chester County, Pennsylvania. Thomas and Joseph Baldwin, the twin sons of Thomas and Mary Baldwin, were born at Chester, August 26th, 1685; William Baldwin, son of Thomas and Mary Baldwin, born 19th of December, 1687; Anthony Baldwin, born 10th Feb'y, 1690; Mary, their daughter, born 25th of Feb'y, 1692; Martha and Mary, their daughters, were born the 16th of December, 1694.”

Yours,

CHAS. W. BRYANT.

*A quaint and interesting book. Mr. Shourds is a Quaker 79 years old.

2. (p 745) Joseph<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>, read "d. before March 29, 1715, when letters were issued to his widow Elizabeth." He m. Feb'y 6, 1713, Elizabeth Mealis. The widow m. Sept. 5, 1716, Joseph Bond.

4. William<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>: will proved Aug. 2, not 12, 1722. He was taxed at Bradford, Chester County, Penn., in 1718, and not in 1722.

5. Anthony<sup>2</sup> Thomas,<sup>1</sup> m. before 1712, Hannah Coebourne, not Colbourne. His 2d wife was Margery, not Margary.

12. (p 746) Joseph<sup>3</sup> Anthony<sup>2</sup> Thomas.<sup>1</sup> Mr. Cope says a Joseph, perhaps, or probably this, m. in Christ's Church, Philadelphia, Nov. 4, 1737, Rachel Wathel. Mr. Cope considers them probably parents of my numbers 29 to 39, inclusive, assigned by me, on authority of descendants, to 14 Anthony, brother of Joseph.

9. John<sup>3</sup> Joseph<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>. Mr. Cope considers all about this John, on pages 746 and 747, out of place—belonging to the John on page 790. I have the highest possible respect for his opinions and presume he is correct.

10. William<sup>3</sup> of Delaware County, formerly Chester County.

26. John, of Concord and Newtown, not Newton+

16. (p 748) John<sup>3</sup> Anthony<sup>2</sup> Thomas<sup>1</sup>. Mr. Cope says he m. 1st May 2, 1756, Mary (Richardson,) widow of James House.

40. Rachel, not Mary.

26. (p 749) John<sup>4</sup> William<sup>3</sup> William<sup>2</sup> Thomas:<sup>1</sup> last two lines read. "he and his children, in 1779, had a certificate to Goshen from Concord, and he again in 1795 to Concord, settling in Bethel township. "As a man he was beloved by all who knew him. As a Christian his life was consistent to his profession. As a minister he gained access to the hearts of those who heard him, not only by the truths which he proclaimed, but also by the affectionate manner in which he spoke those truths. As a father he lived in the hearts of his children and was able to rejoice in the conversion of almost all of his family, and in the eminent usefulness of some of them. He died at the age of seventy-four and was buried at Farm Ridge by the side of his faithful and beloved wife."

444. (p 159 and 1021) Elmer<sup>6</sup> Noble<sup>5</sup> Isaac<sup>4</sup> Theophilus<sup>3</sup> Theophilus<sup>2</sup> Richard.<sup>1</sup> The History of New Milford contains an interesting account of his journey west:

In 1835 he went by stean on the Hudson River to Albany, then by rail, first by horse-power, then by stationary engine and then by locomotive, twelve miles in all to Schenectady, by canal to Buffalo, by steam to Detroit, by wagon to St. Joseph, by schooner to Chicago, and on foot to La Salle Ill., wading for seven miles in water three to fifteen inches deep on the prairie back of Chicago. Chicago was but a village, out-numbered by six hundred Potawatomies, then there settling with the government agent.

"The constant roar of the crowing of the prairie cock, the whoop of the crane, the scream of the curlew, the thud like note of the bittern, and numberless sounds and sights new and strange: and at night the yelping and howling of the prairie wolf completed a scene never to be forgotten. The bones of the buffalo dotted the prairie and the deer roamed in droves. Where I commenced to make my home there was no mark of human labor in sight.

"But the change how great. The robin and other singing birds—not known at first—came as the wild birds of the prairie retired. The limitless prairie is all reclaimed and miles of corn fields and small grains, or portions with flocks and herds uncounted cover every section within the State. There is a school house every two miles, and churches in every neighborhood, and not a house but is within the sound of the whistle of the locomotive.

"The swamp of the infant Chicago is now a city that handles more grain, cattle and hogs than any place in the wide world. The sedgy margin of her stagnant river is lined with docks and ships for miles and crowded with the finest shipping known to commerce. I have witnessed all these changes in about half my life time."

The history of New Milford enables me to give a fuller sketch of Mr. Baldwin than did his modesty. He received a common school education and taught during the winter from the time he was sixteen to twenty-nine years old, working on the farm in the summer. He still resides in his father's homestead. He has served the town in many responsible positions; has represented it in the Lower House and in the Senate of Connecticut; was State Prison inspector, and largely instrumental in establishing the State Reform School. He is director in the First National Bank, of New Milford, a member of the Board of Education, and a reliable, substantial, honored citizen. He is often selected for the care of estate and in other places of responsibility. His son—

A correspondent tells me that in the "Bergen Family" is the statement that the first Baldwin in the colonial records of New Jersey, is John George Baldwin, sometimes written Baldingh, Badlin and Balden, and Abigail his wife, of Gravesend, in Jan'y 1657, that he probably settled in New Jersey, "for we find on the records of the Reformed Dutch Church of Bergen, that Hendrick Jansen Baldwin died Feb'y 18, 1694; Carnelia Jansen Baldwin, wife of William Gessinger, died May 11, 1696, and Jacob Jansen Baldwin married Petertje Claes, Dec. 12, 1696. The Jansen in these names appears to indicate that they were children of Jan or George Baldwin."

A sketch of this very interesting man is on page 831, and his genealogy given in the first volume, page 321, and 831 is corrected on pages 1057-1058.

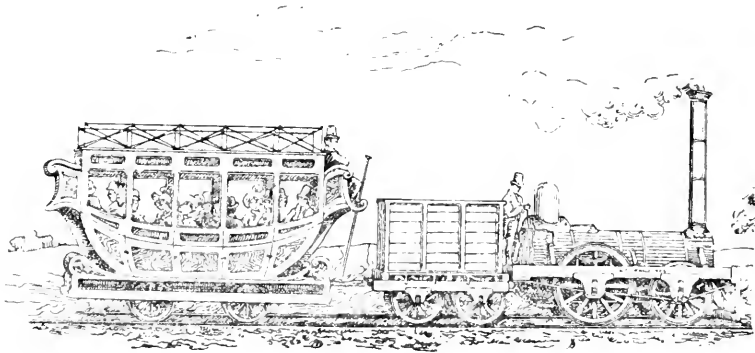

The name Matthias in the New Jersey Baldwins, has invariably led me into doubt and uncertainty and mistakes as well. The difficulty of correctly tracing genealogy in New Jersey is much greater than in New England.

The career of M. W. Baldwin and his connection with the development of our wonderfully vast system of transportation of passengers and freight has been so important that his reputation like that of his works is national.

I have thought that in this supplemental volume his portrait and a brief sketch would interest descendants of New Jersey who would not have access to my first volume.

Mr. Baldwin having learned to be a jeweler entered the service of Fletcher and Gardner in Philadelphia, in 1817. Two years later he opened a shop of his own. In 1825, with David Mason he engaged in the manufacture of bookbinder's tools and cylinders for calico printing. Steam power was soon necessary, and an engine was bought, but Mr. Baldwin decided to build one better adapted to the shop. The result was a novel and ingenious upright engine. It was very successful, and the making of stationary steam engines became an important part of their business. The original is still preserved at the Baldwin Locomotive works.

In 1829-30 steam as a motive power attracted attention. One unsuccessful engine had been constructed in New York city. Mr. Peale, of the famous museum, applied to Mr. Baldwin to construct a small one for exhibition there. In April, 1831, it was put in operation on a track in the museum—drawing two small cars carrying four passengers. The same year he received an order for a locomotive from a short railroad extending six miles to Germantown, and operated by horse power. For this he built the “Old Ironsides,” tried on the road Nov. 23, 1832.

The difficulties of construction were great—the enterprise was new, and the engine attracted much attention to the company and its road—and the company, like Mr. Peale, seem to have regarded it as largely valuable as a curiosity. The company gave the following notice: “The locomotive engine (built by M. W. Baldwin, of this city), will depart daily when the weather is fair with a train of passenger cars. On rainy days horses will be attached.”

Yet the engine attained a speed of 30 miles an hour with its train of cars, and on its first trial a speed of 28 miles. The engine was too light for a part of the road where there was a heavy grade, and it is said the difficulty of building it over was so great and of getting a proper settlement for it that Mr. Baldwin exclaimed: “That is our last locomotive.” The cut here given of it is to be found in Vol. xi of the Penn. Magazine of History and Biography, page 80.

This was the first successful locomotive built in this country. The subject became fascinating to Mr. Baldwin, who had a fine taste and skill in mechanics. By 1834 five locomotives were completed and the business was fairly going. Mr. Baldwin was from that time on steadily making improvements until his death, September 7, 1866. The story of his continued improvement and success is too long for this place, although it is very interesting to those specially interested in mechanism or in railroads. The business continued as the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and in 1881 covered in Philadelphia nine acres of land, of which six or seven were covered with buildings. In April, 1880, was finished the five thousandth locomotive. The works still known as the Baldwin Locomotive Works are now operated by the firm of Burnham Parry, Williams & Co., and I am indebted to that firm for the cut of Mr. Baldwin and the materials for this sketch.

Mr. Baldwin was a man of large and systematic beneficence—especially in the building and sustaining of churches—of which, it is said, he built two besides contributing to many. He was especially interested in the furnishing of such means of education to the colored race—so little able during his life to help themselves.

John Baldwin—Will in 1847 probated in New York city at death, of Hudson, N. Y. All his property goes to his wife, Mary; other heirs are unknown. The will is dated Feb'y 20, 1845, in Harrison Township, New Jersey.

NEW YORK.

George Baldwin, of Long Island.

In Thompson's History of Long Island, vol. 2, p. 467, it is said that among the settlers of Huntington, Long Island, about 1666, is George Baldwin. I do not know whence he came. Many of the inhabitants of Huntington went from Milford, Conn., but I cannot there identify this George. It is stated p. 478, that George removed to Hempstead on Long Island.

On pages 780-783 are a few Baldwins of Hempstead. It seems probable that George left quite a line of descendants there whom care at that place would trace. Other notice of this or some other George appears. The Herrick Genealogy states that George Baldwin appears in 1655 among the freemen of Warwick, Rhode Island, and Mr. Savage's Dictionary, vol. 1, p. 48, under Ambry or Ambey Robert, New Haven, 1663, says further, often Emry or Emery by wife Mary had ch. * * * removed to Stamford. He d. 21 July, 1656, widow next year m. George Baldwin or Bolden, of Westchester.

Mr. George R. Howell, now of Albany, a high authority in Long Island history, writes me that in a census of Hempstead, Long Island, of 1698, never published save by him in a L. I. paper, are 1638 names, among which are the following in which the first vowel was printed e but looks more like a. The census was the work of a slovenly penman and a poor speller.

George Balden,
—ll Balden,
Thomas Baldin,
George Baldin,
Phebe Baldin.

Mary Baldin,
—ell Baldin,
Mary Baldin,
Joseph Baldin.

These names are similar to the entries in my first book, pp. 780-783, and are identified as Baldwin by the will of George recorded in New York City, as the will of—

George Baldwin, of Hempstead,—

Will dated 17 $\frac{3}{4}$ <sup>0</sup> maker "ancient in years and sick."

He m. it appears a dau. of Thomas Ellison who must have been the Thomas Ellison who in 1665 was one of the sons and administrators of Lawrence Ellison, of Hempstead, probably the same who appeared in Windsor, Conn., in 1643. By his will he mentions the following ch.:

2. Ezekiel. +
3. Thomas (deceased). +
4. George, unless possibly but not probably this was his son-in-law.
5. Samuel.
6. Joseph. +
7. Martha, in 173 $\frac{0}{1}$  unm.
8. Daughter, who m. George Baldwin. +
9. Daughter, who m. — Youngs, and had a son George.
10. Phebe, m. — Lewis, and had a son George.
11. Abigail, m. Townsend.
12. Elieer, m. Howard.
13. Rachel, m. Fetherbee.

2. Ezekiel<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup>, eldest son and baptized as adult 1730, Episcopal Church at Hempstead, will 1761. The ch. save 14 appear in his will.

Hannah, wife of Ezekiel was baptized July 29, 1726, Rebeckah, John and Mary as adults and the children of Ezekiel, to wit: Jonathan, Silas, George, Timothy and Abigail. In my former book I made this Ezekiel same as one who wife Rachel had ch. Samuel and Benjamin bapt. June 27, 1740, but that they are not the same appears by the will of the other, made 2 Oct., 175—, vol. 17, p. 307 Surrogate record of New York, where he left a wife Rachel, daughters Jemima and Levinah, not then 18, and two sons not named, not then of age—no doubt Samuel and Benjamin, and mentions his brothers-in-law Daniel Combs and William Lyons.

14. Jonathan, died before his father's will, Nov. 19, 1757, leaving a wife Dorothy, but no ch. He remembers his brother Timothy and nephew Jonathan, son of George.

15. Rebeckah, bapt. as adult 173 $\frac{0}{1}$ , and m. Meh. 16. 173 $\frac{0}{1}$  William Valentine.
16. John, bapt. adult, 173 $\frac{0}{1}$ .
17. Silas.
18. George.
19. Timothy, living 1757, but not mentioned in will of 1761.
20. Abigail, m. Southard.

3. Thomas<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup> deceased in 173<sub>9</sub>, leaving children.

21. Silvanus, eldest.
22. Thomas.
23. James.+

6. Joseph<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup>. He married Mary and had baptized at Hempstead, April 30, 1730, Jacob, Mary and Eleanor. He is I have little doubt the Joseph of whom the following account appears in the history of New York during the Revolution by Thomas Jones, vol. 2, p. 38.

Joseph Baldwin a royalist was born and lived at Hempstead, Queen's Co., where he had considerable property. About fifteen years before the rebellion he moved and settled in Dutchess Co. and left unsold a valuable lot of woodland. The wood was all cut down and sold by refugees under authority of the Court of Police under pretence the owner was a rebel. He had a wife and seven children and estate in Dutchess Co.

I only knew the children named in Hempstead with certainty.

24. Jacob.+
25. Mary.
26. Eleanor.
27. Isaac? may be one of the other four ch.+

8. Daughter<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup> m. George Baldwin or it may have been George Baldwin No. 4, son of George, who by tradition m. Rhoda Case and lived in Dutchess County. By tradition he had a brother, father of Isaac, of Poughkeepsie. Or possibly he may have been another George of this family.

28. William.+
29. John.

23. James Thomas<sup>2</sup> George<sup>1</sup> living in 173<sub>9</sub> to take from his grandfather was he not the James on page 782 of my first volume—who lived in the vicinity of Westbury, Long Island, and had by tradition ch., all b. and d. in that vicinity?

30. James.
31. Jesse, 10 ch., on pages 782 and 783, of whom Gideon was b., 1783.
32. Gilbert.
33. Richard.
34. Daniel.
35. Morris.
36. Amelia.
37. Hannah.

38. Joseph Balden.+

39. Martha, perhaps m. Daniel Rainor, as her father mentions his son-in-law of that name.

40. Elizabeth, m. Van Vlackren and had ch. to take under their grandfather's will—

Aaron Van Vlackren.

Elizabeth Van Vlackren.

27. Isaac,<sup>3</sup> probable son of Joseph<sup>2</sup> George.<sup>1</sup> Will as Isaac Balding, of Poughkeepsie, Dutchess County, New York, dated Oct. 10, 1787, admitted to probate 1791. He mentions his wife Susannah and all the children below save Sarah. The probable order is impossible as he names all his sons first. He mentions also a grand son Elisha Barton.

41. Isaac. In the Dutchess Surrogate record, appears the will of Isaac S. Balding, possibly grandson of this—of Poughkeepsie, dated Aug. 15, 1860, probated Feb. 6, 1861, wherein he remembers his wife Elizabeth, son James R. Balding, daughters Agelina Platt, Persis Van Vliet, Eliza Dibble, and Ethalinda Parish and the five ch. of his deceased daughter Mary Marshall, to wit.: Edwin, Mary, James, Sarah, and George Marshall.

42. William, bapt. in Hempstead, Dec. 2, 1756.

43. George.

44. Daniel.

45. Mary, bapt. in Hempstead, April 30, 1749, m. Aaron Forman.

46. Susannah, m. Clapp.

A numerous family is scantily traced in my former book, pages 784, 833 et post, and 974. In 1829 Ephraim wrote that his grandfather, name not known, emigrated from Long Island to North Castle, thence to Fredericksburg, Dutchess Co., N. Y. I think this family will be found to be of the Hempstead family. The children were:

Elioha, b. about 1750, being in 66th year when he d. in Sept. 3, 1816. According to 2nd Johnson's Chy. Reports 554 to 564, he lived about six mile from Southeast. His descendants are on p. 974 and 833. See+

Ephraim. (See p. 784.)

Henry's descendants on p. 833, and those following. Is not he the Henry who m. at Hempstead, Sept. 21, 1784, Anne Barton?

Pierce, or another says Parish.

James.

3. Elisha, name said to be unknown on p. 833, whose will dated May 1, 1816, was proved Nov. 14, 1816, Dutchess Co., E. p. 242 He was of Fishkill. He mentions his wife Elizabeth and ch:

14. James+

Mary Sutton.

Zilpha Wright.

Elizabeth Youngs.

Letetia Shears, (i.e. is this Sears?)

13½. Elisha, Elisha of Stanford, Dutchess Co., N. Y., administration, granted April 3, 1834, to widow Jemima and Jacob and Daniel.

Her will dated July 10, 1854, mentions her grand daughters Sarah Agatha Baldwin, Susan Mary Miller and Emily Miller and her grand son John H. Miller and her ch.:

Jacob.

Daniel.

William.

John H.

Mary Ann Robinson.

Susan Vail.

It is presumed she had a dau. who m. Miller.

36. (p. 835) Elisha<sup>1</sup> Daniel<sup>3</sup> Elisha.<sup>2</sup> I think he must be the Elisha who of East Fishkill will dated May 29, 1866, admitted to probate April 23, 1873, vol. 2, p. 106, mentions wife Phebe.

1. Thomas deceased and five ch., Elisha, Hattie, Walter, Ida and Oliver. Letters on Thomas estate were granted May 9, 1860. He was of East Fishkill.

James Baldwin, of "Tughkanie," Columbia Co., N. Y., will dated Aug. 8, 1822, presented for probate Nov. 16, 1822, devises and legacies to Mary Hoag, Jr., and Cynthia Hoag and to his brothers Joseph and Henry Baldwin, and sister Sally Wilcox—appointing Elisha Wilcox executor may well have been of the family of James— b. 1758<sup>5</sup> Ebenezer<sup>1</sup>, p. 493.

In Columbia Co. records, James buys land in Egremont, Mass., Jan'y 17, 1809, and sells land there in 1827. This James was likely the one mention of whose letter is on page 493. The James who on page 1105 m. Lydia Race was more likely gr. s. than s. of James, b. 1758.

 Joseph, Dec. 28, 1732.

John Baldwin, of 89 Gerrick St., N. Y., makes his will dated Feb'y 1, 1849. He mentions his wife Alpha, formerly Pratt, and speaks of a marriage settlement. He gives his three sons last named lands in Doon, Queens Co., Ireland, Barrony of Marybro, in Parish of Clonnanagh, now tenanted by Mr. Patrick Lalor. The family can hardly fail to be closely related to those on page 808, from the same Doone. The spelling I give above is that of the records.

17. Eliot J.<sup>4</sup> Elias Clark<sup>3</sup> Joseph,<sup>2</sup> is the well-known capitalist of San Francisco, often called "Lucky" Baldwin, and whose soubriquet I named on page 10 as akin to what was said to be the origin of the name Baldwin "bold winner."

I take a slight sketch from the Cleveland Voice, of February 6, 1887.

The news of the recent severe illness of Mr. E. J. Baldwin, the daring, open handed speculator whose name has been the synonym for luck on the Pacific coast, will be received with regret by all who have met him. Baldwin went from Butler county, O., to Indiana at the age of seven years. At twenty-two he was a merchant in Valparaiso, Ind. He built three canal boats, the first to ply between Chicago and St. Louis, 1848. In 1850 he was a grocer in Racine, Wis. In 1853 he started for San Francisco with a large stock of horses, which he sold out in Salt Lake City at a large profit. Arriving in San Francisco he bought and sold two or three hotels. Then he went into the brick trade. From bricks he went into the livery business, which he followed for seven years. Selling out the livery business he next opened in Virginia City, Nev., in the lumber trade, dealing also in real estate and mining stocks. He came out of the mining region at least with $9,000,000, and built in San Francisco the Baldwin hotel, one of the costliest hostleries on the continent. He also purchased some 50,000 acres of the best land around Los Angeles in southern California. He has erected many farm houses on this plantation, and here he spends much of his time among the orange groves and vineyards. An intense lover of horse racing, he is sure to turn up when there is some great turf contest. And although he is called "Lucky" Baldwin, there is no doubt that hard work and foresight had much to do with his success.

Henry Baldwin (probably originally Baldwin) lived in Sunfish, now Clarington, Monroe Co., Ohio, but was buried at Terre Haute, Ind., where he died in 1843. He was too young to be Henry on page 786 who moved to Ohio about 1803. He m. 2nd Hannah Morrill, b. in Maine, whose parents moved to West Virginia where she m. Her mother before marriage was Sally Prescott, of Kennebec Co., Maine. Hannah d. in Arkansas in 1857, aged 55. The family moved to Memphis, Tenn., in 1845. ## VIRGINIA.

Early Grants in Virginia were—

John, March 18, 1648: 600 acres in Northampton County.

William, Oct. 26, 1652: 600 acres in York County.

John, Oct. 10, 1656; perhaps on James Island, near the old Block House.

In Capt. John Smith's works are the names of the adventurers for Virginia. Sent by the Treasurer and Council for 1620.

Among them are—

Francis Baldwin.

In 1622, "Master Baldwin, at Warraskoyack, his wife being so wounded she lay for dead, yet by his oft discharging of his piece (he) saved her, his home, himself and home and divers others."

At Master Harrison's house, about half a mile from Baldwin's, was Master Thomas Hamer with 6 men and 18 or 19 women and children. The savages decoyed some of the whites and killed them. Harrison's boy fired a gun when the Indians fled and Harrison and 22 persons got to Baldwin's, leaving the other house burning.

According to Smith's map the place was below Jamestown on a small stream entering the other side of the James River.

In Mr. Neill's Virginia Vetusta, p. 202 to 204 is to be found—

LETTER OF JOHN BALDWIN.

John Baldwin, a freeman, who arrived in the ship "Tiger," in 1622, and worked for George Sandys for several years, wrote the following to a friend in Bermudas, (Lefroy p. 265.)

"My love remembered unto you and to your wife. I hope you are in good heath as I am at this tyme. Mr. Sandys hath dealt unkindlie with us, he maketh us serve him whether we will or noe, and how to help yt we doe not knowe for hee beareth all the sway, but I hope to doe well enough yf God blesse me this yeare.

I thank God I have had my health very well here. All our company is living but three, William Lanes, Will'm Smith, weh were killed with the Indians goeing to worke in the wood. They lay in a tree that was newlie felled where they killed them. Thomas Knowles is dead; but I think hee had bene livinge now but we had a base fellow to our-overseer, weh was the occasion of his death; for he was sicke awhile and could not worke, and then hee went to him and beate him that hee fell down presentlie and could not stand, and then they carried him to bed, and there hee lay sixe days and neither ate nor drank. Ffor the land it is a plentifull countrey. I like yt well yf the people were good that are in yt; but they are base all over, for yf a man be sicke, putt them into a new house, and there lett lie downe and starve for noe body will come at him. I heard the "Scaflower" was come to the Bermudas. I pray you send word yf I have ever a kinsman in her. William Allen<sup>1</sup> is here, come servant for five yeare. Thomas Cole is here but hee liveth very poordie. I pray you remember my love to John Harris and Thomas Wilkinson and Hugh Wall, and Henry and Rowland Sheene<sup>2</sup> and his mate Daniel, to Robert Filudd,<sup>3</sup> at Sommersett, to Mr. Bagley and his wife,<sup>4</sup> and to Mr. Crosse. Thus I rest your ever loveinge,

JOHN BALDWIN.

POSTSCRIPT.—It hath been a verye hard tyme wth all men, they had like to all starve this yeare; there was them that paid fortye shillings a bushel for sheld corne. But howsoever they dye like rotten sheepe, noe man dies but he is full of maggots as he can hould. They rot above ground.

THE BRYAN FAMILY OF MILFORD, CONN., AND LONG ISLAND.

I procured by purchase, in London, from among the papers of the descendants of William Penn who purchased lands in Bucks County, England, the following deed formerly belonging to the Baldwins.

The deed is endorsed on the back—

“ This deed of purchase by me, E. Baldwin, of the two houses at Wendover with a fine upon it.”

The signature of Alexander Bryan was no doubt affected by his health as he was a very intelligent and well educated man.

The grantee, E. Baldwin, was most likely Edward Baldwin, a second cousin of Richard, and of the Inner Temple, London. See ante pages, 47-48.

Benjamin Fenn, who witnessed it, married Sarah, first cousin of Edward Baldwin and second cousin of Richard Bryan. See ante pages 49-51.

The premises described in it, are no doubt the premises left to Anne, (Baldwin) wife of Alexander Bryan, and her son Richard by her uncle Richard Baldwin. See the will, ante pages 31-33.

The name in the will of Richard Baldwin is Bryant and was originally written so in this deed, but in some instances the final t has been erased.

After a very careful examination of the name of the widow in possession as tenant I am quite certain the name is Widow Ovyatt, but it is doubtful whether she was probably any relation of Thomas Offitt or Oviatt, of Milford, Conn., who apparently came from Nazing, Essex. (See Winter's Memorials of Nazing) in Ship Lion, in 1632. Yet see will of Alexander Bryan for name of Oviatt.

It is difficult to represent the contractions in this deed exactly. The larger horizontal lines over contractions should be curved.

SAMUEL WE WILSON.

Mr. Lambert, the historian of Milford, said that Alexander Bryan was from Ireland. Before I procured the deed following I had indentified him as connected with the Baldwins of Buckinghamshire, England, and had accidentally found in the parish records of Aylesbury, in that shire, the entry of the baptism of Alexander. Ante pp. 38 and 46.

I believe there is no foundation whatever for the statement that he was from Ireland. The Baldwin wills, the Bryan deed, and the records at Aylesbury, identify him beyond all question.

The name was an old one in the vicinity. In Hertfordshire, at the 23d and 25th Parliament (Edward 1st) Roger Bryan was a knight of the shire, and in 1277 lands were held in the parish of Bukhamough by William Brian and Robert Brian.

The deed was probably drawn in London and sent to Milford. The scrivener seems to have spelled the name Bryant—the final t being sometimes but not always erased.

1. Thomas Bryan<sup>1</sup> was of parish and county town of Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire. He had ch. at least—

2. Elizabeth, bapt. Nov. 2, 1600.
3. Alexander, bapt. Sept. 9, 1602. +
4. Frances, bapt. March 29, 1604.
5. Mary, bapt. April 19, 1606.

NOTE.—I traced Thomas no further back, but found entries which may be of interest to the name.

In Aylesbury—

Robert Bryan, buried Dec. 31, 1604.

In Aston Clinton, adjoining—

Ann Bryan, m. 1623, Samuel Baldwin.

In Ellesborough, near Aylesbury—

Robert Bryan, m. 1631, Bridgett H——, probably the one buried March 2, 1643. Their ch. bapt.,

1. Henry, Sept., 1632.
2. Frances, Sept. 14, 1634.
3. Jane, April 17, 1636.
4. Richard, Feb'y 1, 1641.

Buried 1640 — 19, Joan Bryan.

3. Alexander Bryan<sup>2</sup> Thomas,<sup>1</sup> (ante p. 38,) bapt. in Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, England, Sept. 9, 1602, m. in England, Ann Baldwin<sup>4</sup> Robert<sup>3</sup> Henry<sup>2</sup> Richard Baldwin.<sup>1</sup>

She d. in Milford, Feb'y 20, 1661, and he m. 2nd Susannah Fitch, widow of Mr. Samuel, of Hartford. Susanaah was 1st wife of William Whiting, who with Lords Say and Brooke, and George Wyllys, bought the interest of the Bristol men in Piscataqua, about 1631 to 1633. From 1641 to his death he was treasurer of Conn. Colony, and in 1642 one of the magistrates. He was styled "The Worshipful William Whiting." She m. 2nd in 1650, Mr. Samuel Fitch, of Hartford, many years teacher there, by whom she had two sons. He d. 1659 and she m. 3rd 1663, Mr. Bryan. She d. at Middletown, Conn., July 8 1673, at the home of her son-in-law, Rev. Nathaniel Collins, of that place.

The first purchase of Milford was made of the Indians 12 Feb'y, 1639, and Alexander Bryan was one of the five trustees taking the title for the body of planters. The consideration was "6 coats, 10 blankets, 1 kettle, 12 hatchetts, 12 hoes, 2 dozen knives, and a dozen small glasses."

The land between Paugussett and the two mile Indian path was bought in 1655 for £5 in goods for Milford, by Ensign (Alexander) Bryan, Sergeant (Richard) Baldwin, and William East. The tract east of Indian River and extending to the New Haven purchase, and from Indian path to Oyster River south, to the foot path from Paugussett to New Haven north, was bought for Milford, 20 Dec., 1659, by Robert Treat and Ensign Bryan. The Indian Neck lying between the East River and the Sound was bought for the town by Ensign Bryan, 2 Jan'y, 1659-60, and a reservation in this last purchase was also bought by Ensign Bryan for the town, 12 Dec., 1661.

The first public house was kept by Henry Tomlinson, a weaver, The town were disatisfied with him and brought a suit. Some of the complaints were that he sold "strong water, wine and beer at greater prices than was allowed, and kept a disorderly house," in "that he suffered young men and maids to come there and dance and play at shuffle board" (cards). April, 1644, the town after debate with Tomlinson, and thinking they could not build for him before harvest, the purchase of Richard Bryan's house was then proposed, Tomlinson's to be given in part exchange. "Ensign Bryan to judge of ye price of his house and lot and of the value of his sonnes house and lott." The trade was made fixing Richard Bryan's house at £68, by giving him Tomlinson's at £23, and £45 boot. The house stood on the old country road, ten or twelve rods west of the meeting house, and a public house was kept there from that time until about 1826. "June 26, 1655, Richard Bryan and William East boungt ye house above named of ye town for ye same price of 68*l*, with the barn, house lot and all ye privileges except ye long table and bench which the town lett remain there gratis for the use and improvement of said Bryan."

Milford was in its early days quite a commercial place. The first merchants were Alexander Bryan, his son Richard, and William East. In 1640 "Ensign Bryan sent a vessel to the Bay '(Boston,)' laden with beaver, otter and other precious furs, and in return brought back such goods as were needed by the planters for their own use and for trade with the Indians." In May, 1650, the town granted him land (twenty feet by sixty) on which to set a warehouse, on the west corner of Broad Street and Dock Lane. The same year he built a wharf at the end of the lane, which he resigned to the town in 1653 on the condition that they should always keep it in repair. Before this Mr. William Fowler had a small wharf above this one and below his mill.

In Oct., 1655 "the town gave Richard Bryan leave to build a warehouse near unto his father's on the other side of the highway, thirty feet one way and eighteen feet another." Sergt. East had a warehouse between Ensign Bryan's and the home of Miles Merwin, the tanner. These three merchants in 1675 owned two brigs and a sloop. The brigs made voyages to the West Indies and the sloop to Boston. To the West Indies were sent staves, cattle, horses, beef, pork, flour, and corn meal, for which were returned rum, molasses and goods from Europe. Furs were sent mainly to Boston for dry goods.

In 1714, Samuel Clark, merchant, bought Richard Bryan's warehouse for £14. In 1690, a brig of 150 tons was built in Milford for Alexander Bryan, and in 1717 the Sea Flower was launched for Richard Bryan.

Mr. Thomas R. Trowbridge, Jr., in his scholarly and very interesting paper on the Ancient Maritime Interests of New Haven, says—

"Among the colonial merchants the contemporaries of Evance (1639-1656), and of Allerton (1639-1659), there are many deserving especial mention.

"Of these Easigne Bryan, of Milford, sent thence his ships to England, to the Azores, to Virginia, and as far east as Nova Scotia. For many years his credit stood so high that his notes of hand passed as current in Boston as bank notes do anywhere in our town."

Mr. Bryan was much more successful than the others named, as in 1656 Mr. Evance returned to England bankrupt, and in 1659 Mr. Allerton died, and says Mr. Trowbridge—"He died insolvent. His creditors were many, his debtors were few."

Mr. Trowbridge in 2 vol. N. H. Col. Hist. Soc., p. 201 says—

"In an interesting paper and one that shows extensive researcch, Mr. J. W. Fowler, of Milford, says:

"That in 1650 Mr. Bryan, merchant, built a warehouse 60 feet long on the corner of Broad Street and Dock Lane, which in 1653 he gave to the town on condition that they keep it in repair. Previous to this John Fowler had his mill and wharf near this place. Richard Bryan and William East had also warehouses near by, and from this they sent their vessels to West India and European ports, bringing their cargoes in return which were taken to New Haven for sale." "For many years the credit of the Milford merchants was so high that their notes of hand were as current as bank notes at a later period."

P. 200 he says of settlement of Milford—

"Treating the aboriginal inhabitants with comparative equity, they bought their lands and paid for them the large price of '6 coats and 2 blankets.' The town was noted for its commercial enterprise and adventurous spirit as soon as it was settled, and that same year Mr. Bryan sent his vessel to Boston loaded with beaver and otter furs, and in return brought back such goods as the settlement needed."

In 1640 a company was formed, commanded by Capt. John Astwood, who in 1640 m. Sarah (Bryan) Baldwin, widow of Sylvester, ante p. 42. William Fowler (who m. in 1670, ante p. 83, Elizabeth (Alsop) Baldwin, widow of Richard) was lieutenant, Alexander Bryan was ensign, and William East, the sergeant, who m. Mary Baldwin, sister of Richard and widow of Robert Plum. This company included probably all the planters and every male above sixteen years of age was required to have ammunition on hand.

Mr. Lambert says that Mr. Bryan had a liberal education which seems probable. He sometimes appeared as an attorney before the general court, and among other cases he defended Dept. Gov. Roger Ludlow in the slander case described (ante p. 407), where Thomas Staples received a judgment against Ludlow for reporting that Goodwife Staples was a witch.

Mr. Bryan made his will dated April 24, 16(74?) codicil dated May 22, 1679, and died between July 20 and Nov. 6, 1679.

Mr. Savage gives him the son Richard and says he probably had dans. Susanna who died at Middletown, 1670, and Joanna who m. April, 1612, Owen Morgan, unless one or both were widows of other sons who died before the testator. I am unable to satisfy myself of the existence of these daughters. His will names liberally his grand children and great grand children, who are identified as descendants of Richard. He leaves his gr. ch. Alexander Bryan £500, and land to his son (gr. gr. ch.) Alexander his right at Eaton's Neck, Long Island, to his gr. ch. Hannah Harrison, gr. ch. Sarah Fitch, w. of Samuel, gr. ch. Samuel Bryan, house, warehouse and use of lane to his gr. ch. Richard, Jr., house, barn, use of lane, etc., when 19, gr. ch. Richard, Francis and Abigail, cousin (likely other relation), Thomas Oviatt, Mr. Newton, to each of his gr. gr. ch., the ch. of Alexander Bryan £5 each. To gr. ch. John Maltby and Mary Maltby £5, and to the 3 ch. of his gr. ch. Harrison £5 each. To Milford £8, and to his son Richard all the rest of his property.

6. Richard, born in England.

6. Richard Bryan<sup>3</sup> Alexander<sup>2</sup> Thomas,<sup>1</sup> as has already appeared was a very prominent citizen of Milford in every way, and preeminent in commerce.

Hon. Lucius M. Boltwood informs me that he m. Mary Pantry, dau. of William and Margaret, of Hartford, as appears from Vol. 2, p. 22, of the Hartford Probate Records will of William. The inventory was taken Nov. 14, 1649.

Richard Bryan m. 2nd July 15, 1679, Mary Wilmot, of New Haven, born Feb'y 16, 1647, dau. of Benjamin<sup>2</sup> Benjamin Wilmot<sup>1</sup> Benjamin,<sup>2</sup> m. widow Elizabeth Heaton. Mary, but not her husband seems to have been member of the church, the following ch. were baptized to Marie Bryan—April 25, 1680, Elizabeth Joseph, 1682, and again in 1685, Joseph to Mary Bryan.

When Mary (Wilmot) Bryan died is not known, but her husband m. 3rd Elizabeth Hollingsworth, widow of Richard, of Milford. Mr. Savage put this marriage in 1678. I know not his authority. These marriages have given me much trouble, my statements being quite contrary to Mr. Savage, and I at a long distance from records, but my early investigation is confirmed by Mr. N. G. Pond, of Milford, to whom I am constantly obliged in this sketch of the Bryans.

Mr. Savage is generally confused in his notice of Elizabeth Hollingsworth—see Bryan—Hollingsworth and Powell. See also his notice of Wilmot which gives the date but not the name of the Wilmot marriage. There is no reason to doubt, however, that she was, as he says, the daughter of Michael and Abigail Powell, of Dedham and Boston, born June 16, 1641, and m. 1st Aug. 23, 1659, Richard Hollingsworth.

Her marriage to Richard Bryan is further proved by a deed in Milford Records, from her sons reciting the fact.

She was the widow Elizabeth Bryan, of Milford, who m. Oct. 22, 1705, as her 3rd husband, the eminent Robert Treat, Governor of Connecticut, who d. July 12, 1710, in his 89th year, and she Jan'y 10, 1706. His first wife was Jane, daughter of Edmund Tapp, of Milford, and by her he had Joseph Treat, b. 1652, of whom hereafter.

The patent for Milford, from the General Court was dated May 25, 1685, and Mr. Richard Bryan was the second of seven persons named therein—Governor Robert Treat being the first.

Richard, merchant, bought Nov. 13, 1684, that part of Huntington, Long Island, called Eaton's Neck—eastward of Oyster Bay—of William Jones and Hannah his wife, daughter of Gov. Eaton, in their own right and for their brother Theophilus Eaton, Esq.

“Three sons of Richard Bryan” says Mr. Lambert, “settled on this land, Alexander, John and Ebenezer. Their descendants on Long Island are now numerous.”

Alexander Bryan owned a large track of land in Southington, says Mr. Lambert. Mr. Savage says, Richard was the richest man in town as was his father, leaving large estates partly in England (?) in Long Island, at New Haven, Elizabethton, N. J., Providence and Milford. I will add that I have found that Richard Bryan had children—

16. Sarah, 1670, m. Oct. 1678, Samuel Fitch, who died early leaving an only child Sarah, and she m. 2nd about 1696, Mungo Nisbett, and d. in two years.
17. Abigail, Jan'y 12, 167 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; d. unm., 1698.
18. Elizabeth, 1679; no doubt d. y.
19. Joseph, Jan'y 15, 1682. +
20. Elizabeth, bapt. Nov. 1685; m. Dr. John Durand. +

7. Alexander<sup>1</sup> Richard,<sup>2</sup> b. about 1651, d. Aug. 19, 1701. In 1692 and other years he was town clerk of Milford, Conn., as was his brother in 1698. Mr. Lambert says he lived for a while on Long Island. He m. Sybil,<sup>2</sup> b. 1655, dau. of Rev. John Whiting,<sup>2</sup> of Hartford, and Sybill (Collins) of Cambridge, Mass., Rev. John<sup>2</sup> was b. 1635. Harvard College, 1653, and son of Hon. William, whose widow m. Alexander Bryan, father of Richard. He left proprieties in Milford and elsewhere. On account of some in Southampton, Long Island, his widow Sibylla had letters of adm., in New York, Sept. 27, 1701. Mr. Savage says she m. 1705, Hugh Gray, of Huntington, L. I., it is said, but after his death was in 1711, living in Milford.

22. Alexander, June 15, 1677. +

23. John, July 12, 1680. In 1711, lived at Huntington, L. I. May 9, 1710, of Long Island, deeds to Roger Newton and Ezihiel Stone (Stow?) lands conveyed to him by his father Alexander. The Bryan's descended from this line lived largely on Long Island, but says Mr. Lambert in his history of Milford, some of them from Long Island resided in Milford during the Revolution.

24. Ebenezer, Feb'y 2, 1690. +

25. Augustine, April 25, 1691; d. Aug. 8, 1705. According to Mr. Goodwin, his or her name was Augustinatha, but as he or she died young, the name is not of great consequence.

8. Mary<sup>4</sup> Richard,<sup>3</sup> b. 1654. She m. 1st Feb'y 28, 1666, John Maltby, of New Haven, Conn., about 1671, says the Dwight Genealogy. John Maltby came from Yorkshire and was lost at sea, 1676. Mr. Dwight says she m. 2nd Rev. Joseph Taylor, who was clergyman at Southampton, L. I., who d. April 4, 1682, age 31, and she m. 3rd Jan'y 30, 1690, John Howell, Jr., of Southampton, who d. March 8, 1692, aged 44, and she was thus left a widow the 3rd time when but 38.

In Howell's History of Southampton (2nd Ed. 1887.) p. 306, it is said that John Howell<sup>3</sup> John<sup>2</sup> Edward,<sup>1</sup> b. Nov. 28, 1648, and d. March 8, 1692: m 1st Martha, dau. of John White, who d. June 7, 1688, and he m. 2nd Mary, widow of Rev. Joseph Taylor, Jan'y 30, 1690. and had a dau. Sibyl by her, b. Aug. 9, 1691. On p. 306 it is said that that Edward Howell<sup>2</sup> Edward,<sup>1</sup> b. 1626 and d. 1699; m. 1st Mary, dau. of Rev. Robert Fordham, and 2nd Mary,<sup>3</sup> dau. of Richard Bryan, of Milford, who on p. 431, is identified as widow of John Maltby, but is said to have m. 2nd Edward Howell,<sup>2</sup> and by that means the children of Maltby came to Southampton, who Dwight says came there on their mother marrying Rev. Joseph Taylor. One cannot tell by page 306 whether (if Mr. Howell's book is right) she had any children by Edward Howell. I cannot decide in such differences where I have made no examination of my own, but can add that on the distribution of the estate of Abigail<sup>2</sup> Richard,<sup>1</sup> in 1698, one of her heirs was said to be her sister Mercy Howell. Whether there were two, Mercy and Mary, one of whom m. Edward and the other John Howell, or these are various blunders as to one person I cannot tell. All agree that Mary Maltby had ch.—

John was of Harvard College, 1667. He taught school at New Haven and preached there and at Wallingford, Conn., and removed as early as 1690 to Elizabethtown, N. J. He was employed by the government taking latitude of places between Mass. and Conn. He had in 1692 seven sons, but Mr. Savage names no more. Mr. Howell says he had three other ch. than these named below, in Elizabethtown. He d. Aug. 20, in his 58th year.

35. Martha<sup>5</sup> Samuel<sup>4</sup> Richard,<sup>3</sup> b. in Milford, 1689, bapt. 1694; m. July 5, 1711, Joseph Smith. They had at least a dau.—

84. Martha, who m. John Miles. They had a dau. Martha Miles who m. Capt. Charles Pond. Capt. Charles and Martha Pond had at least ch.:

Adam, who had Charles Hobby, father of N. G. Pond, my valued correspondent, of Milford, Conn.

Martha m. A. V. H. Dewitt and had a dau. Martha, who m. David L. Baldwin, whose dau. Martha m. David Miles, a descendant of John and Martha Miles—a line of 7 Marthas.

42. Richard<sup>5</sup> Richard<sup>4</sup> Richard.<sup>3</sup> I place him in this line of descent on the authority of Charles Andrew Johnson, Esq., of New Orleans, a descendant of whom I first learned in Milford as studying the records there. I think he must have been the Richard who on authority of Mr. Goodwin m. as his 1st wife, Mehitabel, dau. of Samuel Clark, also of Milford, and who on my own authority m. likely as his 2nd w., Sarah Treat, dau. of Joseph. The first two children were by Mehitabel and the others by Sarah. He was likely the Richard Bryan, Jr., who Mr. Lambert says settled not far from 1727 in North Milford, being the first who settled in that part of the town and for many years it was called Bryan's Farm. In 1750 it was so "well settled" that by that name it was voted school money.

61. Joseph<sup>5</sup> Joseph<sup>4</sup> Richard,<sup>3</sup> b. in Milford, May 8, 1721, d. there April 3, 1751. He graduated at Yale College. He m. Mehitabel, dau. of Samuel Clark.

91. Joseph, bapt. July, 1746. +

92. Mary, bapt. Nov. 1749, buried in the Episcopal burying place in Stratford, under the following inscription: "In memory of Mary, daughter of Mr. Joseph and Mehitabel Brym, who died Nov. 1, A.D. 1753, aged ten years and ten days.

93. Mehitabel, bapt. Nov., 1751.

71. Alexander<sup>6</sup> Alexander,<sup>5</sup> of Huntington, Long Island, (manor of Eaton). He died before his father who remembers in his will his son Ebenezer and asks him to pay one-third to his sisters. Alexander's will of Feb'y 24, 1758, remembers his said daus., his wife Phebe who with his brother Epenetus were his executors.

94. Ebenezer, who has the homestead, all lands on the point where his father lived. Dutch Island and the bogs at ——— Meadow—all other property to be divided to the sisters not named.

72. Augustine<sup>6</sup> Alexander.<sup>5</sup> His will dated Sept. 18, 1753, was proved in New York City, Jan'y 10, 1781. It must have been somewhat out of date. He makes his wife Deborah, brother Epenetus and David Pasco executors. He leaves his son Melancthon £60 and property to his three sons and six daus., when they came of age. Of all these nine ch. I know only—

95. Melancthon.

85. Mehitabel, who m. about March, 1740, David Ingersoll, of Milford; b. Sept. 4, 1720, son of Jonathan and Sarah. He d. Feb'y 14, 1742, in the 23rd year of his age. She d. June 7, 1798, in her 77th year (gravestone). They had one ch.—

96. David, Dec. 11, 1740, who m. March 9, 1768, Clement Treat, dau. of Lieut. Joseph. He d. June 10, 1774; his widow, May 18, 1817, and they had three children, Mehitabel, 1768; David Bryant, 1771; and Jonathan, 1778. His epitaph in Milford is interesting.

"In memory of David Ingersoll, Esq. His piety was early and unaffected. His benevolence pure and universal. As a civil officer—a member of God for good. In friendship, endearing and faithful. A pattern of conjugal and parental affection. In prospect of a better state he departed this life July 10, 1774, in the 31th year of his age. All on earth is shadow; all beyond is substance. The reverse is folly's creed. How solid all where change shall be no more."

86. Richard<sup>6</sup> Richard<sup>5</sup> Richard.<sup>4</sup> m. Jan'y 13, 1742, Sarah Fowler, dau. of John and Susan Fowler. In 1850, he removed to Boston, Mass., where in 1889 he still remains a great leader in music. Before 1861, he had been leader and manager, in that year a member of Gilmore's celebrated band, as manager and leader in Mr. Gilmore's absence. He was superintendent at the National Peace Jubilee in 1869, and held the same position at "the World's Peace Jubilee," where there were 2,000 performers. Since 1873 he has been the head of Baldwin's Boston Cadet Band, and for fifteen years has been elected Superintendent of Music by the City Government of Boston. He is justly proud of his musical position.
